ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, a leading land-grant university and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in providing students a broad curricula of liberal and practical education. MSU also serves people of the state, nation and world through its numerous research, extension, and international programs.

Now in its 135th year, Michigan State University has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the largest universities in the nation. It has more than 3,000 faculty/staff engaged in teaching, research, and public service; more than 400 campus buildings; and more than 5,200 acres of land, of which some 2,100 acres are in existing or planned campus development. More than 40,000 students now attend the university at East Lansing, of which some 85 percent are from Michigan.

Michigan State University is committed to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, in its faculty, in its staff, and in its curriculum and outreach programs. Our student body hails from every county in the State of Michigan, every state in the nation, and 110 foreign nations. Minority students comprise 11.7 percent of the campus population, and includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day—farming—MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of today. The university now has a Graduate School and 14 colleges—Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science, and Veterinary Medicine.

At the center of all major universities is a cluster of disciplines that constitute the liberal arts and sciences. At MSU, this center consists of three colleges—Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. Providing outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines, these colleges also have special programs that enable students to obtain a broad multidisciplinary education. In addition, in collaboration with the College of Education, the three colleges prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan and the nation. These colleges touch the lives of all undergraduate students at MSU by providing the general education that constitutes approximately one-quarter of the undergraduate program. The Honors College, which enables superior undergraduate students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. MSU is proud of its record in producing Rhodes Scholars, a total of 14 (11 since 1971-71); the university also has provided 6 Marshall Scholarship winners; and 12 Churchill Scholarships. These British scholarships are two of the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards that an American student can receive. Michigan State University also is a prominent sponsor of National Merit Scholars.

MSU adds to the store of knowledge with a wide array of outstanding research activities that are supported by a multimillion dollar sponsor-funding program. Some major facilities include the Pesticide Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W. K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is examining the nuclei of the heaviest of elements.

Benefits of the university are brought to the public by the Agricultural Experiment Station, University Outreach, and the Cooperative Extension Service. Their programs provide technical information and formal course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 30,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

The university's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU maintains research and educational assistance projects on a worldwide basis. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

HONORARY DEGREE

PRESIDENT WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON

President William Jefferson Clinton, as a boy in Hope, Arkansas, you set your sights on achieving the place in the world where you could make a difference. As the forty-second president of the United States of America, you have found that place.

In 1963, you participated in the American Legion program, Boys' Nation, in Washington, D.C. There, in the White House Rose Garden, you shook John F. Kennedy's hand and personally accepted the challenge of public service. As your mother later reported, after that, there was never any question about what you were going to do.

You returned to Washington, D.C., for your undergraduate education at Georgetown University. Graduating in 1968, you then spent two years at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar. Your formal education culminated with a law degree from Yale. You returned to Arkansas in 1974 as a member of the faculty at The University of Arkansas in Fayetteville.

Your university experience concluded with your election in 1976 as attorney general of Arkansas. Two years later, at 32, you became the youngest governor in the United States and served longer than all but one of your predecessors. Your fellow governors elected you chairperson of both the Democratic Governors' Association and the National Governors' Association. You also served as chairperson of the Education Commission of the States.

Throughout your public life, you have been steadfast in supporting programs that foster the education of America's young people. As governor of your native state, you passed an important set of education reform programs. As president of the United States, you have been a tireless advocate of programs and funding on behalf of students from kindergarten to graduate school.

In recognition of your distinction as a teacher and as a leader who has used his high place to promote education in America, Michigan State University is proud to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

HONORARY DEGREE

INGRID SAUNDERS JONES

Ingrid Saunders Jones, as vice president of Corporate External Affairs for The Coca-Cola Company and chairperson of the Coca-Cola Foundation, your vision has guided a philanthropic program to advance excellence in education in the United States and the world. Under your leadership, the foundation supports a range of education programs vital to our future, and spanning the range of early childhood through university education. Your leadership is grounded in the conviction that the demands of the new century will require new educational strategies and partnerships. You have made it your mission to bring those strategies and partnerships into being.

Born in Detroit, you earned a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and a master's from Eastern Michigan. You directed the Detroit Wayne County Child Care Coordinating Council before moving to Atlanta where you held a series of posts in local government. Joining the Coca-Cola Company in 1982 as assistant to the vice president for Urban Affairs, you were chosen vice president for Corporate External Affairs in 1991.

Since then you have carried on the company's century-old commitment to social responsibility through corporate philanthropy, focusing its program of educational support in areas essential to the future. You have promoted pipeline programs to encourage students to stay in school and to make successful transitions to higher education; minority and non-traditional scholarships to ensure access for divorce groups, environmental and arts education to enrich the planet and the soul; and global exchange programs to model the world of the future. Through service to community groups such as Leadership Atlanta and the Woodruff Arts Center, you have extended and enriched your contributions.

Ingrid Saunders Jones, your lifelong commitment to civic and educational purposes does credit to your alma mater. Michigan State University is honored to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

HONORARY DEGREE

NEAL F. LANE

Neal Lane, as director of the National Science Foundation, the foremost federal science agency of the United States, you are known throughout the world for your contributions to science policy. You have earned that position through decades of innovative and enduring contributions to atomic and molecular physics research and education, marked by the highest scholarship and by a willingness to get your hands dirty doing real calculations.

Born in Oklahoma, you studied at your state university from undergraduate days through your Ph.D. in physics. International recognition began early with your appointment as NSF Postdoctoral Fellow at Queen's University in Belfast, Northern Ireland, directly following completion of graduate study. Returning to this country, you joined the physics faculty at Rice University, where you served from 1966 to 1993. You directed the Division of Physics at the National Science Foundation in 1979-1980 and served as chancellor of the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs from 1984 to 1986. You again brought your talents as faculty member and administrator to Rice University as provost in 1986. In 1993, you returned to Washington, D.C., to become head of the National Science Foundation.

You are a pioneer in computational science. Your research has helped bring us from the days when that science depended on punch cards to a time when computational physics competes with pure theory and experiments in making the most impressive advances in basic research. Your work, including your inquiries into the theory of electron scattering and electron transfer, is central to our current understanding of plasmas and astrophysics. Your research has balanced theoretical brilliance with practical yet elegant computational applications. You have always been concerned to understand in depth the essential nature of the physics underlying any particular phenomenon and to express the concepts in an intelligible, instructive way. As a result, you have educated some of the best of the younger generation of atomic and molecular theorists at work today.

Neal Lane, in recognition of your life-long contributions to the field of theoretical atomic and molecular physics and your powerful influence in guiding basic research to serve a national purpose while preserving an environment in which creativity can flourish, Michigan State University is proud to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

HONORARY DEGREE

SAMUEL J. LEFRAK

Samuel LeFrak, you have played a major role in improving the lives of middle-class people in this country through the construction of affordable housing. In addition, your philanthropic generosity has benefited hospitals, education, art, youth, the homeless, and the world's poor.

Your parents emigrated from Palestine to New York, where your father established a housing development organization. Joining him in business after graduation from the University of Maryland, you made it your mission to foster a new way of life for millions of city dwellers by building decent houses that they could afford to buy. Today you have constructed hundreds of thousands of houses and apartments in New York and other cities. In 1960, your organization started building LeFrak City in the heart of New York and in the next decade set to work on Battery Park City near the World Trade Center. In 1985, you began construction of Newport, New Jersey, a city of the future across the Hudson River from New York, to realize your dream of "reclaiming urban spaces that have been neglected and fallen into decay and turning them once again into living communities."

The concern for the betterment of society on which your commercial enterprise is grounded finds equal expression in your philanthropic principles. You have turned your investments into the housing rehabilitation projects of Habitat for Humanity, and to financing buildings and events that make it possible for all people to enjoy art and artistic performances. You are a trustee and a benefactor of the Guggenheim Museum. As a passionate advocate of better education, you have financed scholarships, schools, and libraries both in this country and abroad.

Samuel LeFrak, Michigan State University recognizes you as an outstanding example to all who would place wealth and industry at the service of the ordinary people of the world. We are honored to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

HONORARY DEGREE

JOHN T. SCOTT

John Scott, you are internationally known as an artist and educator devoted to the creation of a visual experience "similar to what African-American musicians have done with gospel, and blues, and jazz... when you hear it, it wraps you soul." You personify the artist as visionary and commentator upon the world, turning away from self-aggrandizement. Indeed, you do not describe yourself as an artist, believing that only the community can bestow that name.

A native of New Orleans, you studied as an undergraduate at Xavier University and earned the master of fine arts degree at Michigan State University. In 1965, you returned to the art department at Xavier, where today you are professor of fine arts. Your work in sculpture and printmaking delineates and shapes space with a variety of nonobjective or semi-abstract forms that often carry associative meaning and certainly always reveal the soul. A master of draughting, as your drawings and prints reveal, you are always actively engaged in developing new ideas and expressing them visually and verbally in your eloquent spoken and written language.

In 1992, you were awarded the highly prized John D. MacArthur Fellowship in recognition of your professional accomplishments as a sculptor, your dedication to teaching, and your lifelong care and concern for humankind. You have devoted time and energy to community projects and to education not only in New Orleans, but also in your state, the south, and the nation. Through your achievements, you have served as a role model for hundreds of students and for thousands of spectators who have seen your work.

Your outdoor pieces have been displayed at the National Museum of American Art of the Smithsonian Institution and at the Birmingham Museum of Art, and your work has been shown in more than 150 solo and group exhibitions here and abroad. Last year, you returned to Michigan State University to conduct a printmaking workshop and as the central participant in the Monumental Discoveries Symposium, dedicated to exploring issues of marginality for artists of color.

John Scott, you are an alumnus whose life and career do honor to Michigan State University. We recognize you as an artist. In so doing, we are proud to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts.

1995 DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

CHARLES H. BEADY, JR.

Charles H. Beady, Jr. is President and Chief Executive Officer of The Piney Woods Country Life School (Piney Woods, Mississippi), a PK-12 boarding school that has a student population of 340. Students come primarily from Mississippi, 28 of the contiguous United States, Alaska, the United States Virgin Islands, Haiti and four African countries. Over 75% are from poor, female headed, single-parent households, yet over 93% go on to some of the best colleges and universities (including Michigan State University). Piney Woods provides leadership via a model that demonstrates that all children can learn.

Prior to his involvement in Piney Woods Country Life School, Dr. Beady held a number of positions, primarily related to research. He served two years as a Research Associate (Center for Urban Policy Studies) and four years as Senior Research Scientist (Institute for Urban Research) at Morgan State University, Baltimore, Maryland, conducting research related to urban problems and issues. He also was a Research Affiliate at the Center for Social Organization of Schools at Johns Hopkins University, conducting research concerning problems and issues that involve the social organization of schools. At Michigan State University, he served as Assistant Professor (Education) teaching Educational Research; was a Research Associate in the College of Urban Development; and was Research Project Coordinator while serving as a Specialist for the Colleges of Human and Osteopathic Medicine.

Dr. Beady is the recipient of the Certificate of Merit from the Mississippi Historical Society for the restoration of the Grace Jones Memorial Log Cabin and the implementation of a historical preservation program at The Piney Woods Country Life School. He has authored a number of scholarly publications, many focusing on motivating low achieving students, self-esteem, futility intervention, and motivating urban youth.

Dr. Beady received three degrees from Michigan State University: a B.A. in Advertising, M.A. in Urban Counseling, and Ph.D. in Counselor Education. He also was a Postdoctoral Research Fellow in the Center for Social Organization of Schools at Johns Hopkins University.

WILLIAM DAVID BROHN

William David Brohn, musician, composer, orchestrator and conductor, has excelled for four decades in the field of music. His eclectic skills cross various musical disciplines and have taken him from Flint to Boston, Cleveland, New York City, and Hollywood.

As a performer, Brohn plays string bass and piano, and served for a time as double bass chair with the Boston Pops orchestra. He has conducted national tours of the Robert Joffrey Ballet, the Royal Ballet, and road companies for popular musicals. In 1981 he was commissioned by the Cleveland Orchestra to adapt and arrange a program piece for their annual Christmas concert.

In Hollywood, he orchestrated four movies--ENDLESS LOVE, BLUE THUNDER, WAR GAMES and WHOSE LIFE IS IT ANYWAY?--and also several theatrical productions, including SHOWBOAT, CAROUSEL, and London's current smash hit, OLIVER. He is responsible for orchestrations for numerous albums by artists including James Galway, Marilyn Horne and Placido Domingo. For his work in orchestrating "Pacific Overtures" by Stephen Sondheim, Brohn received a Grammy nomination.

Brohn's most notable challenge was in re-creating the sound track for the 1937 Russian classic film, ALEXANDER NEVSKY, directed by Eisenstein and with an original score by Sergi Prokofiev. The Brohn rendition has now been performed by many major orchestras to rave reviews. The first university presentation of this work was offered on April 30, 1995, on the campus of Michigan State University, directed by William Brohn.

A native of Flint, Brohn received a B.A. in Music from Michigan State University, followed by a Master of Music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music.

1995 DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

NORMAN A. BROWN

Dr. Brown, recently retired (as president emeritus) from the position of president and chief operating officer of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan. As executive vice president, and as a Foundation program director, his areas of concentration included wholesome food supply in the United States and Latin America; youth program; and leadership development. He also gave leadership to the Foundation's initial programming efforts in southern Africa.

Beginning his career as a vocational agriculture teacher, Dr. Brown became a county extension agent in Washtenaw County and subsequently, director of 4-H Youth Programs with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State. He became dean and director of the Minnesota Extension Service at the University of Minnesota in 1980.

His extensive international experience includes directing a Peace Corps program in the Philippines, working in agricultural education in Algeria, and consulting in Latin America and the Caribbean. He also served as a rural youth specialist for the U.S. Department of State. He was the 1978 recipient of the Superior Service Award from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

His volunteer interests have included, such diverse activities as school board member, trustee and vice chairman of the MSU Foundation, and director of the Council on Foundations. In 1989, President George Bush named him to a commission to plan the Thousand Points of Light Foundation, and then named him as a board member. In 1991, Dr. Brown was appointed by President Bush to the President's Council on Rural America.

Dr. Brown received his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees from Michigan State University.

WILLIAM J. KAY

William J. Kay serves as clinician, teacher, and lecturer in veterinary internal medicine and neurology. As Chief of Staff and CEO of the The Animal Medical Center (New York)--the nation's largest private, not-for-profit veterinary teaching hospital and research center--he handles a wide range of professional, organizational, operational, financial, regulatory and ethical issues and activities.

As head of The Animal Medical Center, Dr. Kay has single-handedly been involved in the largest intern and resident training program in veterinary medicine in the United States. He was one of the first people in the profession to recognize and articulate the powerful bond between people and companion animals, where he was able to turn ideas into action.

An internationally recognized leader, he has delivered many lectures and seminars to veterinarians and other groups throughout the world. He has received many special honors, including the Bustad Companion Animal Veterinarian Award, American Veterinary Medical Association; Robert G. Kirk Award, Veterinarian of the Year, American College of Veterinarians National Medicine, ACVIM; and the Outstanding Veterinary Alumnus Award, College of Veterinary Medicine, Michigan State University.

Dr. Kay received his B.S. degree and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Michigan State University. He has also studied at the New York University Medical Center (Department of Neurology), and at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, where he received a certificate from the Advanced Management Program. He is a charter diplomate in the American College of Veterinary Medicine.

LUI HAH WAH ELENA

Lui Hah Wah Elena is a senior lecturer with the Psychological Studies Division, National Institute of Education, Nanyang Technological University, and is actively engaged in research on teacher education, career guidance and children's national identity.

From 1991-94, Dr. Lui chaired the Board of Trustees of the Singapore Professional Centre, a non-governmental coordinating body of some thirty professional associations ranging from accountants and engineers to social workers, and urban/regional planners. In that capacity she organized and hosted regional workshops, and an international conference.

In volunteer capacities, she has served in sixteen social and community service organizations, including the Singapore Council of Social Service and National Youth Council. Currently, she is actively involved in the Singapore Association of Social Workers, and the Singapore Action Group of Elders (SAGE), which she co-founded.

In 1994, she was appointed Honorary Adviser of Khmer International Foundation's Teachers Training Centre (Singapore), and in March of 1995 was designated Honorary Chairman of the Singapore Professional Centre. She is the first Singaporean to receive the MSU Distinguished International Award (1994).

Dr. Lui received a B.Soc.Sc. degree from the Chinese University of Hong Kong. With the support of the Institute of Education and a Fulbright Scholarship, she subsequently received three post-graduate degrees granted by Michigan State University: the M.A. in Education, Educational Specialist, and the Ph.D. in Curriculum and Instruction.

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

ALMA MATER.....Traynor

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.
(The Lansing Concert Band and Audience)

RECESSIONAL

The Lansing Concert Band

We would like to express our appreciation to the many students and staff for their assistance at the commencement exercises. The audience is requested to remain seated while those in the processional are entering and leaving the arena.
