On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells, which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a vital symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

For more than 150 years, Michigan State University has been advancing knowledge and transforming lives. MSU, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Today, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

The East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 4,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students—85 percent from Michigan—attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and more than 100 nations from around the globe. Minority students comprise more than 15 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach and engagement programs is exemplified through global services in numerous research, extension, and international programs. MSU's Study Abroad program, which offers 180 programs in 57 countries, is the third largest of any single-campus university in the nation.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, MSU has a Graduate School and 15 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Law, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges offer outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 16 Rhodes Scholars, 11 Marshall Scholarship winners, 15 Churchill Scholarship recipients, one Mitchell Scholar, and one recipient of the Gates Cambridge Scholarship. These scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards a student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, home to one of the National Science Foundation's long-term ecological sites. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach and Engagement, MSU Extension, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest hotel and conference centers nationwide, annually hosts some 500,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 1,400 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials, HC. Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.

A GLIMPSE OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY:

HISTORY, FUTURE, AND THE UNIVERSITY MACE

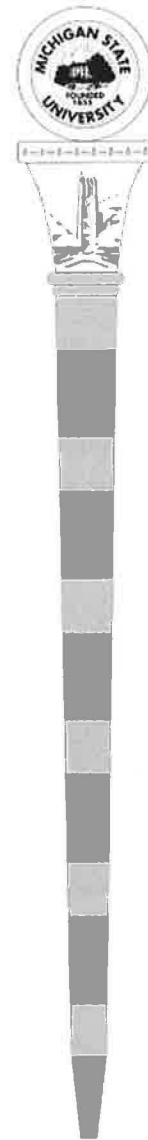

Michigan State University is pleased to include the University mace in commencement ceremonies. The introduction of the mace, at the 2005 Founders' Day celebration and inauguration of MSU's twentieth president, serves to commemorate the sesquicentennial celebration. The University, founded in 1855, celebrated its 150th birthday in 2005. The mace is designed by University Relations and was produced by Physical Plant staff.

Historically, the mace is a symbol of authority dating from medieval times when knights carried them during processions with their kings. As the tradition grew, the mace became a ceremonial symbol of peaceful leadership, and maces were embellished with jewels and metals. Today, a university's mace is carried before the president or chancellor and platform-party dignitaries during commencement and inaugural and other academic ceremonial processions.

The Michigan State University mace, 42 inches in length, includes important institutional symbols in its finial, crown, and shaft. The finial is the circular University seal, which includes an image of "Old College Hall." This oak-carved seal derives from an 1869 State Board of Agriculture (now, Board of Trustees) authorization for a woodcut to be used as the frontispiece of the college academic catalog. College Hall, built in 1856, was the first instructional building erected in the United States for the teaching of scientific agriculture. When it collapsed in 1918, John Beaumont (class of 1882) provided funds to erect Beaumont Tower in 1928 at the same location. The tower stands as a symbol of Michigan State's beginnings as the first land-grant college dedicated to teaching "agriculture and the mechanic arts" with a "liberal and practical curriculum."

The mace's crown is trimmed with a maple samara and acorn pattern carved from walnut, a pattern drawn from the "Michigan State College" limestone relief at the Abbot Road campus entrance that also adorns markers at other campus entrances. An image of Beaumont Tower lies in the crown's oak center. Below the crown is the cylindrical shaft, whose alternating, horizontal oak and walnut bands descend to a brass tip. Its oak is purported to be "Beaumont oak," from one of the original saplings surrounding College Hall. Its walnut is from a tree removed to clear land for the Wharton Center for Performing Arts of 1982.

In its soaring verticality, Beaumont Tower continues to inspire the MSU community and is an appropriate symbol for the MSU mace. As President Robert S. Shaw (1928–41) stated at the tower's dedication, it has served as "a unifying factor" to remind us, even through our individual activities, of the overall mission of Michigan State University: to inspire us by "appealing to many of the better things in us" and to encourage us to "live up to higher standards, scholastically, socially, morally, and spiritually in all of our affairs."

HONORARY DEGREE

Lester R. Brown

You are a visionary scholar who is considered one of the world's most influential thinkers and communicators about environmental issues. You are known as an optimist dedicated to finding solutions to problems you uncover and translating your goals into plans for international cooperation.

Your experience as a young man growing tomatoes developed into a concern for world food consumption and sustainability. Your first position after college was in India working on rural agricultural problems. You then became an international agriculture analyst in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, advisor to the Secretary of Agriculture on international agricultural policy, and administrator of the department's International Agricultural Development Service. You left government in 1969 to help establish the Overseas Development Council.

In 1974, with support from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, you founded the Worldwatch Institute, the first research institute devoted to analysis of global environmental issues. You began Worldwatch's influential State of the World report to document environmental trends and problems. The annual report is now published in 26 languages. In 2001 you founded the Earth Policy Institute to provide a vision of an environmentally sustainable economy and a plan for accomplishing that vision.

You have written or coauthored fifty books that have appeared in forty languages. Your books have challenged official policy and informed policies on world economy and environmental sustainability.

Among the many commendations you have received for your work are a MacArthur Fellowship, the United Nations Environment Prize, the Blue Planet Prize, the Presidential Medal of Italy, and the Borgström Prize of the Royal Swedish Academy of Agriculture and Forestry. The Library of Congress has requested your personal papers and manuscripts.

For your work in moving environmental causes to the mainstream of global economics and effectively communicating environmental issues to policy makers, the media, and the general public, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Agriculture from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Donna J. Hrinak

You are known internationally as an advocate for equal opportunity, human rights, and productive and peaceful relations between countries; and you promoted those values throughout your career in the U.S. Department of State and as a U.S. Ambassador.

In your early years in the State Department, serving six U.S. missions abroad, you dealt with a wide range of issues including narcotics trafficking, rights of U.S. citizens imprisoned in other countries, and family unification programs in Eastern Europe. Your commitment to human rights, economic equity, and the importance of economic alliances and trade to development and international relations became the hallmark of your public service career.

You continued to apply these values in assignments that included leading efforts to negotiate the Labor Side Agreement to NAFTA and coordinating State Department efforts to win approval of NAFTA. As Deputy Chief of Mission at the U.S. Embassy in Honduras, you designed and implemented a mentoring and training program for junior officers from twelve U.S.

agencies. As Deputy Assistant Secretary of State in the Bureau of Western Hemisphere Affairs you directed the work of nineteen U.S. missions in the region. You were coordinator for policy for the Summit of the Americas in 1994, playing a key leadership role in negotiating the agreement of 34 nations to create a Free Trade Area of the Americas. For the next ten years you served as U.S. Ambassador, first in the Dominican Republic, then in Bolivia, Venezuela, and Brazil, achieving notable success in each country. Both the Dominican Republic and Brazil recognized your service with major civilian awards. The U.S. Department of State honored you with the Career Achievement Award and Superior and Meritorious Honor Awards.

You are known for your ability to clarify complex issues and inspire others to share your values. Your formal mentoring programs and informal interactions with students and other young people have helped shape numerous careers.

For your distinguished public service and contributions to international relations, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Kay Koplovitz

You are a visionary entrepreneur, author, and speaker known for leading the emergence of cable television, advising companies on growth strategies, and mentoring other women entrepreneurs.

The founder of USA Networks, you were the first woman network president in television history. You negotiated groundbreaking contracts for major league baseball, basketball, and hockey, and created the first cable coverage for other sports. Such innovation kept the network at the top in prime time viewership among cable networks for thirteen consecutive years. You also launched the highly ranked Sci Fi Channel and USA Networks International, which operates around the world. Your innovative use of both subscriber fees and advertising revenue enabled cable networks to challenge bigger competitors for audiences.

President William J. Clinton appointed you to chair the bipartisan National Women's Business Council in 1998. As part of a broader strategy to develop a national network of support for both women investors and women entrepreneurs, you then launched a company to support women entrepreneurs seeking venture capital and a second company for women investors to support early stage companies. To help professional women advance, you co-founded a search firm to identify qualified candidates for positions on corporate boards of directors.

An advocate for understanding individual differences, you launched the Erase the Hate Campaign in 1994, which resulted in the U.S. Congress declaring a National Erase the Hate Day in 1997. You serve your community as a member of the boards of the Central Park Conservancy and other nonprofit organizations and corporations.

You share your expertise in media and finance through books and public speaking engagements in both business and academic settings. Your insight and experience along with practical advice on developing business plans and pitching ideas to investors provide important guidance to both women and men interested in starting businesses.

For your innovative entrepreneurship and your commitment to advancing the opportunities for women in all levels of business, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Andrea L. Van de Kamp

You are a successful businesswoman who has applied your business acumen to nourish and support the arts and education.

Your career has included positions as president and CEO of the Independent Colleges of Southern California where you administered annual fundraising campaigns for fifteen independent colleges. Earlier, you served as Director of Public Affairs for Carter Hawley Hale Stores, Director of Development of the Museum of Contemporary Art, Executive Director of the Southern California Coro Foundation, and Associate Director of Admissions for Dartmouth College. Before recently establishing your own public affairs consulting firm, you were chair of Sotheby's West Coast business activities for fourteen years.

Your volunteer positions demonstrate your generosity and commitment to your community. In more than two decades as a volunteer at the Music Center of Los Angeles, you were active in the annual campaign to support the resident companies and education programs at the center, which is the third largest performing arts venue in the United States. You led the merger of The Music Center, Inc. and The Music Center Operating Company, which played a large part in transforming the Music Center into its current status as a world-class, 21st century site for performing arts and arts education.

As volunteer chair of the Board of Governors of the Music Center from 1996 to 2003, you oversaw the activities of more than 3,000 volunteers and 35 volunteer groups as well as the Music Center's senior management, fundraising, and educational staff members. You led the ambitious effort to build the $270 million, 293,000-square-foot Walt Disney Concert Hall designed by Frank Gehry with an acoustical quality intended to surpass the best concert halls in the world.

You are now chair emerita of the Music Center and an active member of other community organizations including the Board of Councilors of the Annenberg School of Communication at the University of Southern California, the UCLA Hammer Museum, the California Community Federation, and the Walt Disney Concert Hall Board of Directors.

For your dedication to and support of the arts and education, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

James E. West

You are an accomplished inventor and a valued mentor encouraging minorities and women to enter the science and engineering disciplines where they are often underrepresented.

You are known primarily as the co-inventor of the electret microphone at Bell Labs in 1962. Your pioneering research on charge storage and transport in polymers led to the development of electret transducers for sound recording and voice communication. This simple but rugged transducer is now used in most telephones and other applications from toys to professional equipment. Almost 90 percent of all microphones manufactured today for products like hearing aids, tape recorders, and computer audio components are based on your research on the fundamental electrical properties of materials. You hold more than 250 U.S. and international patents and wrote or contributed to more than 100 technical papers and several books on acoustics, solid-state physics, and materials science during your long and successful career.

Among your many honors are election to the National Academy of Engineering and induction into the National Inventors Hall of Fame. You are a Fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers and past-president of the Acoustical Society of America, which awarded you its Silver Medal in Engineering Acoustics in 1995 and its Gold Medal in 2006. The National Society for Black Engineers awarded you their Golden Torch award. You received the Lewis Howard Latimer Light Switch and Socket Award from the National Patent Law Association, the George R. Stibitz Trophy, sponsored by the Third Annual AT&T Patent Award, and were named the New Jersey Inventor of the Year for 1995.

You are now research professor in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering at Johns Hopkins University where you chair the Whiting School of Engineering Council on Diversity. You are committed to providing educational opportunities for minority students and have served as an active role model for them. You led in developing the AT&T Corporate Research Fellowship Program that has supported more than 200 minority students, most of them in the sciences. You were also instrumental in creating a minority fellowship within the Acoustical Society of America.

For your creative technical contributions and your caring support of young scientists and engineers, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Engineering from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Deborah L. Wince-Smith

You are recognized internationally as an expert on innovation strategy, science and technology policy, economic development, and global competitiveness. You appreciate the value of innovative academic research that promotes economic development.

As president of the Council on Competitiveness, you lead the only national organization that links business and labor leaders and university presidents to promote growth of U.S. productivity. The council's viewpoints and findings are cited widely at national, regional, and local levels; its 2004 report, Innovate America, inspired the competitiveness initiatives announced by President George W. Bush in his 2006 State of the Union address.

You have served in many national leadership positions as an advocate for applying research to economic development initiatives. As chair of the Secretary of Commerce's Strengthening America's Communities Initiative, you led the committee in assessing federal investment and policy in regional economic development. As the first Assistant Secretary for Technology Policy in the Department of Commerce Technology Administration from 1989 to 1993, you developed policies to strengthen U.S. productivity and economic competitiveness. During the Reagan Administration, you served as Assistant Director for International Affairs and Competitiveness in the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy and designed and negotiated the landmark 1988 Head of Government Science Technology Agreement with Japan.

Your strong advocacy for science and engineering research and education in maintaining global competitiveness is apparent in your past role as program manager at the National Science Foundation and current membership on the National Science Board's Task Force on Transformative Research, the Secretary of Energy Advisory Board's Nuclear Energy Task Force, and the National Research Council's Committee on Innovation Models for Aerospace Technologies. You also serve on the Board of Governors for Argonne National Laboratory, the University of California President's Council for Los Alamos and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories, and the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology. You are a trustee of the National Inventors Hall of Fame and a national juror for the MIT Lemelson Award for Invention.

For your commitment to advancing knowledge to improve global competitiveness, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

The University acknowledges candidates for the bachelor's degree who will graduate as Academic Scholars (A), from the Honors College (H), With Honor ()*, or With High Honor (). Academic Scholars completed a two-year honors program including at least four honors-caliber courses. Honors College graduates are academically talented students who have participated in rigorous, highly individualized programs of study, including at least eight honors-caliber courses. Graduation Honors. The current minimum grade-point average for seniors graduating With Honor is 3.5 and those graduating With High Honor is 3.8, which is approximately 20 percent of graduating seniors who have earned the highest grade-point averages. Graduation with honor is based on the entire academic performance at Michigan State University. However, recognition of graduation with honor in the commencement program is based on grade-point average of all work at MSU completed prior to the opening of the semester of graduation. Transfer students must earn a minimum of 50 semester credits at MSU to be eligible for graduation with honor or recognition in the commencement program. Graduation with honor is indicated on the student's permanent academic record and on the diploma. Lists are also released to the press with appropriate designations.

The Star-Spangled Banner*

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927) wrote the lyrics of the Alma Mater. Its melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. The arrangement used today is by Leonard Falcone, director of bands at MSU (1926-1967), and edited by John T. Madden, associate professor and director of the Spartan Marching Band.

On March 30, 1949, after a student vote, the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows finally was adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as MSU Shadows.

Diplomas will be mailed to degree recipients
approximately one month after the end of the semester.

Senior Class gift information is located at <http://www.givingto.msu.edu/seniorgift/>

ADVANCED DEGREES

The Star-Spangled Banner*

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927) wrote the lyrics of the Alma Mater. Its melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. The arrangement used today is by Leonard Falcone, director of bands at MSU (1926-1967), and edited by John T. Madden, associate professor and director of the Spartan Marching Band.

On March 30, 1949, after a student vote, the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows finally was adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as MSU Shadows.

Diplomas will be mailed to degree recipients
approximately one month after the end of the semester.

*The source of the lyrics; the Office of the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education.
