MSU WOMEN'S LIBERATION OFFICE

Location: 314 Student Services Bldg.

Phone: 353-8857

The new center for MSU's Women's Liberation offers varied services. If you are interested in exchanging ideas or gaining more information about the women's movement, the people in this office will gladly spend time talking with you. If you are interested in joining a women's discussion group, it is possible to put you in touch with other people who want to set up a group (or already have) through the Women's Lib office. There are also many books, pamphlets, brochures and magazines available.

An additional note: Two other sources of reading material dealing with the issues for women are the Man and Nature Bookstore, also on the third floor of Student Services, and Minority Books International, located at 201 $\frac{1}{2}$ E. Grand River.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES

If you feel that you (or someone you know) have not received fair treatment because you are a woman--such things as being discouraged from entering a major in a 'man's' field, finding the emphasis at the Placement Bureau on jobs for men, fellowship and scholarship discrimination, etc.--contact Albert Martin, Administrative Assistant in Equal Opportunity Programs, 320 Administration Bldg., 353-3922. You do not need to prepare a legal presentation in order to contact this office about your concerns.

ALL-UNIVERSITY PRESENTATION

Sarah Fabio, Professor of Black Literature at Berkeley, will be on campus on MONDAY, JANUARY 13. Her presentation is scheduled for 4:00 P.M. in the Main Auditorium, and the topic is 'The Black Woman Makes the American Scene' - historical socio-drama with the use of multi-media.

CHANGE IN PLANS

ACW Women's Week has been postponed from January to May 1 - 7. Weather is one factor in the change, as well as a need to give more people time to plan and participate in the week. Individuals and groups are encouraged to plan activities relating to their own interests for this period. For further information, call 355-8324.
