M. A. C. WINS MEET.

It has been the custom heretofore to send a copy of the RECORD containing an account of Field Day events to our high school friends in the state, and for that reason the full account of same is held over until next week. M. A. C. won easily in track, tennis and relay, securing 67 points to all others 68. Our men won 8 firsts, 7 seconds and 6 thirds in the 15 events. The crowd was jubilant when Alma won the base ball game over Albion. A full account given next week.

UNION LIT.

During the Jubilee week there was gathered together the largest number of Lits that ever assembled at one time. Eighty alumni of the society registered during the week. The society has been busy all the spring cleaning up and improving the building. The woodwork was all revarnished, some of the rooms papered, and a fine new porch added. The little college home was the scene of many happy meetings of long severed brothers, and throughout the week a spirit of rejoicing pervaded the place.

The reunion on Friday night was a grand success. Nearly every class from 1876 to 1911 was represented, and each entered into the spirit of the occasion with the greatest enthusiasm.

The following is a program of the evening:

President's Address—M. F. Johnson.
History—F. H. Wade.
Oration—J. V. Gongwer.
Prophecy—E. E. Nies.
Poem—C. J. Oviatt.

sympathy for them in their bereavement, and be it further

The meeting was conducted this week by Miss Ruthford. "Cost of Service" was the topic, found in Rom. and Matt.

We hope that every girl will be present next Thursday night as it is probably the last time we can ever all meet together here.

VISITING ALUMNI.

Below is given a list of alumni, so far as it has been possible to secure the names, who were here during Jubilee week. These names were taken from the registration slips and this may explain the reason for omissions, as we fear all did not register. Two lists were kept, one for alumni and one for old students, and we regret that the old student list (or nongraduates) is not in shape for publication this week.

COLLEGE MEN AT NIAGARA.

Three Hundred Men Meet at Niagara-on-the-Lake Conference. M. A. C. will Send a Good Delegation.

The annual summer conference for the students of this region will be held June 14 to 23 at Niagara-on-the-Lake, a beautiful spot at the mouth of the Niagara river. About three hundred college men will be present from schools of Ontario, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and western New York. These conferences, of which the Niagara conference is one of six that are held in different parts of the country are exerting a great influence upon the religious and social life of the college men of America; here are gathered men of the various schools of the land coming into close association studying over the peculiar problems and difficulties of college men and listening to and receiving inspiration and instructions from some of good and great men of our country.

SPEAKERS.

One of the features of the Niagara conference will be the platform addresses given by such men as Robert E. Speer, of New York City, a man who by his personality and address is influencing hundreds of the young men of our colleges to higher and purer living.

Bishop McDowell, recognized as one of the foremost orators of America, will be at the conference again this year, and those M. A. C. students who heard him at the conference last year will not soon forget the stirring and passionate appeal given by this man.

Rev. John McNeil and Prof. T. B. Kilpatrick, both of Toronto, Canada, two of Canada's best speakers, will also be at the conference.

Mr. John R. Mott, of New York City, in many respects the greatest man in the student world today, will be present. He has just completed another of his many trips around the world in the interests of students of other lands and will have a message for every man present.

Mr. J. A. McDonald, editor-in-chief of the Toronto Globe, the leading Canadian paper, will give several addresses. Those of us who attended the Y. M. C. A. convention at Jackson will remember the vigor and earnestness with which he spoke. Mr. McDonald is a great speaker with a great message.

Professor John McNaughton, of Queens College, Kingston, Ontario, was at the conference last year. He is recognized as one of the brilliant scholars of Canada, and as a speaker is vigorous and impressive. His addresses will leave lasting impressions.

Besides the above mentioned names there will be professors and teachers from various colleges and universities of the country who will lead in the Bible study, missions, and sociological study of the conference.

ATHLETICS.

This conference is not entirely given over to meetings, classes, etc., but the afternoon of each day is set aside for recreation, tennis, baseball, swimming and excursions of various sorts, thus one has lots of enjoyment and does not become overfatigued with too close attendance upon the various meetings. There is always a friendly rivalry between the various delegations in athletics. Each institution with enough delegates for a team is allowed to compete in a series of baseball games played for the conference championship. The colleges of Michigan united last year and turned out a team that cleaned up on the whole conference. They not only walked off with the baseball championship, but proved themselves for the best in the water sports and were leading in the track meet when rain put a stop to the work. M. A. C. delegates contributed their share of winners.

One evening is given up entirely to "stunts." Each delegation is expected to produce some new and startling performance. Everyone arrays himself in the fantastic tog required by his role in the entertainment and all march to the athletic field, where around a huge bonfire, amid songs and yells, the histrionic miscellany is presented.

EXPENSE.

The expense of attending the conference will be $15.00 while there and with the traveling expenses would cost something like $30.00. This may seem expensive, especially to men just through a year's work in college, but when one thinks of the beautiful trip to the conference, the many beautiful places of historic interest in the vicinity, the fine fellowship that exists between the delegates, and the inspiration of meeting with and hearing these great speakers and leaders, the financial consideration seems trivial.

This conference is open to college men and if any one is desirous of spending ten days in healthful recreation and at the same time get something of value that will stay with him a life time let him attend this students' conference.

The plans of the new agricultural building have been submitted to the departments concerned for approval and returned to the architect. The contract will probably be let within a month. The building will have a frontage of about 190 feet and a depth of 90 feet.

WHAT COLLEGE USED TO MEAN.

The clergyman of the old New England town was its chief citizen, followed by other college-bred men. A good education could be gotten nowhere except at college. Formerly boys went to college from the small hamlets and frontier towns of the colonies. It was a matter of much prayer and thought as to which boy of a large family should be given the opportunity to help himself through college. Then began eight or ten years of self-sacrifice upon the part of all the family and of the chosen boy himself until he was fitted for college and had completed his course there.

He was perhaps the only boy who had thus gone from that locality for many years. His course at college and thereafter was watched by all his friends acquaintances at home as closely as though he were their own son. Men valued what cost so much and came to so much—for a college education was the making of a man. It was at the same time the greatest honor and the surest help to success in life that could be conferred on any bright boy. It set him apart from his fellows and put him in the most enviable position possible.—From Individual Training in Our Colleges, by Clarence F. Birdseye.

O, SENIOR.

Thou too wake up, O Senior great;
Seal thou thy matrimonial fate.
Thy faithful friends, with anxious fears,
With trembling hopes for future years,
Are hanging breathless on thy fate.
We know before what maid thou'lt kneel,
The sweetheart thou hast served so leal,
We know the heartless fun they'll poke;
Thy ears will burn, thy temper heat,
But by and by the answer sweet
Will shape the anchors of thy hope,
O Senior great, when thou'lt propose.—
Ex.

The difference between optimist and pessimist is droll. The optimist sees the doughnut, the pessimist the hole.
