The M. A. C. RECORD.

MICHIGAN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

VOL. 18. EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1912. No. 6

M. A. C. AGAIN THE VICTOR.

De PAUW IS TAKEN INTO CAMP 58 to 0.

An unusually large crowd witnessed the overwhelming defeat of the Indiana team Saturday on the home field. The game was full of thrills from start to finish, and kept the spectators guessing every minute.

The superiority of the home team was apparent from the first, as they rushed their opponents down the field on several occasions during the first half, and but for fumbles the score would have been even larger. In this half also the forward pass did not prove very successful.

All this was made up, however, in the last half, as apparently everything which was tried out worked to perfection.

The only department in which the De Pauw men excelled was in kicking. Rowen, the visiting quarterback, averaged at least 50 yards in his spirals, and invariably dropped them within M. A. C.'s five-yard line.

Riblet was one of the stars, both in his position at quarter and half. In the second half, Gauthier handled the team in fine shape, and was a most plucky player. Great gaps were opened up in the opponent's line, through which Julian, Servis and Carey made substantial gains at every attempt.

Gorenflo and the Millers were consistent ground gainers, and made sveral sensational dashes "around the end." The work of Gifford, on defense, was great, he breaking through repeatedly, and nailing the runner behind the line.

In fact, it was an all star aggregation which beat De Pauw. Every man was at his best, and deserves credit for the individual effort as well as for team work.

The only chance for the visitors to score came in the second quarter, when Rowen circled the end for 30 yards, and was downed on the four-yard line. They were held for the fourth down when the ball went over on an incomplete forward pass. After this the visitors took no chances, but booted the ball at every opportunity. They were a plucky bunch, and fought gamely to the last.

OHIO WESLEYAN SATURDAY.

On next Saturday two games will be played on the home field. Starting probably at one o clock, all-freshmen team will clash with the University freshmen team. This will be an excellent game. The Michigan team has not lost a game thus far, and our own team will try and break the record.

Ohio Wesleyan has a good record this fall, outside of her game with Oberlin, and the latter is especially strong this year. They will give M. A. C. a good game, and one which will be well worth seeing. Remember that two games will be played. See them both.

FIELD WORK IN BOTANY AT NORTH ADAMS.

AGRICULTURE IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The report of Prof. French on Agriculture in the High Schools of Michigan contains some very interesting facts. The introduction of this subject was begun four years ago, and the report is intended to show the plans and purposes of the work, and what has been accomplished.

The total number of students enrolled for agricultural work during the past year was 368 boys and 50 girls. In several of the schools the instructor taught nothing but agriculture, while in others he handled one or two subjects found in the regular school curriculum.

In several of the communities special lectures were given for the benefit of the farmers, and in four of these schools a week's course was given. The actual enrollment for this work was 645 farmers.

More than 20 schools in Michigan now have a regular course in agriculture, with an M. A. C. graduate in charge and, in addition, nine of our men have been called to this work in other states.

The bulletin contains a number of excellent half tones of representative classes in the various schools.

Following is a list of schools and teachers for 1912–13:

OMICRON NU.

The honorary fraternity for women, Omicron Nu, held an initiation meeting Wednesday evening of last week, at which time the following senior women were initiated: Lodie Smith, Madge Lamoreaux, Maude Mason, and Iva Sherman. In addition, two new teachers, Miss Ora G. Yenawine, instructor in domestic art, and Miss Virginia C. Richeson, instructor in domestic science, were also made members of the organization.

An interesting program was then given. Mrs. Loree, as president, gave the address; Miss Waldron gave a splendid book review of "Household Management," recently published by Miss Talbot and Miss Breckenridge, of Chicago University. Several piano solos by Miss Freyhofer completed the program.

The meeting, which was held in the parlors of the Women's Building, was attended by all of the resident members of the fraternity.

PUBLIC SPEAKING ASSOCIATION.

The Public Speaking Association met Friday of last week, when officers were elected and committees appointed. V. T. Pickford was chosen president of the association, and a committee of five was appointed to consider the arrangement of a series of inter-society debates. The committee will make its report, after which the situation will be generally discussed. Those present seemed very much in favor of the plan.

Among other subjects discussed was that of a trophy to be given to the society winning in the finals. Another was, that photographs of the winners should be taken and placed in conspicuous places prior to the debates.

The committee representing women students were very much in favor of the plans, and it is to be hoped will take a more active part in the future.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Howard, on Oct. 22, a son, Sherman Burton. Mr. Howard is the college painter.

ALUMNI

James Satterlee, of Lansing, spent considerable part of the summer in Pennsylvania, and leaves Nov. 6, for Los Angeles, Calif., where he and Mrs. Satterlee will spend the winter. The trip has been made necessary on account of the latter's delicate health. Mr. Satterlee was obliged to resign as treasurer of the State Horticultural Society, because of the western trip.

'94.

At the Interstate Levee Convention, held at Memphis, Tenn., on Sept. 24–26, C. C. Pashby represented Mayor Crump, of Memphis, on the program. His address was on "Levees the Only Plan."

'99.

S. L. Ingerson has changed his location from Fort Worth, Texas, to 1328 Minnesota Ave., Chickasha, Okla. Mr. Ingerson is now employed by the Chickasha Cotton Oil Co. as chemist.

'01.

R. L. Brown is in Oklahoma City, having recently moved to this place from Dallas, Tex. He is with the Crystal Ice Cream Co.

'12.

A. E. Day, '12, and Miss Anna Underhill were married at the home of the bride's parents, on Rumsey Ave., Lansing, on Tuesday, Oct. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Day are at home near Olivet, where Mr. Day will have charge of his father's farm the coming year.

V. G. Anderson is with the Rumley Products Co., of Laporte, Ind., production department. His address is 810 Jefferson St.

J. A. Holden is with the Little Motor Car Co., of Flint, with address at 1134 W. Court St.

Vern Ketchum is doing field and office work in Kootenai Forest Reservation, at Libby, Mont.

H. E. Bone is with the Southern Indiana Power Co., at Bedford, where he is working up tests, designs, etc., in the company's office, and also running tests at the industrial plants.

'13.

J. H. Bridges is in reconnoisance work, with headquarters at Coolin, Idaho. The office was moved from Newport to this place in July, and will probably be permanent. It is situated on a rise of ground, and B. states that from his window can be seen some peaks of the mountains in Idaho, Washington and British Columbia. He is afraid he will hardly know how to act when on level ground, as his party has had to climb cliffs, bluffs and everything in the way of rock walls. Mr. Bridges was a forester with class of 1913.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1912

A COPY of the address delivered by Dr. Blaisdell at his inauguration as president of the Alma college has been received, and forms a most interesting bulletin.

Dr. Blaisdell first takes up The Renaissance as a type, then the "Church as a Mother of Colleges," then the "Renaissance of the College." Other points touched upon are college entrance, student government, college and citizenship, college and morals, college extension, etc.

The doctor believes that one of the effects of the renaissance is the individual touch, a most valuable thing in college life. In connection with the subject, we quote the following:

"The football coach knows every man on his team; knows his strength and his weakness. He puts him where he can render the greatest service. He develops him for that place. He studies the individual as no other college instructor studies him. The football ideal will become the college ideal ere the Renaissance has finished its work. Every young man and every young woman will be studied as an individual and will be trained to do the work he shows he is best fitted for. And the individual study growing out of a closer touch between instructor and student will enable our colleges to develop an efficiency heretofore unimagined.

THE BARBECUE.

Taken from every point of view, the annual pow wow barbecue, held in front of Wells Hall Friday night, was a "howling success."

The crowds gathered at 7 to 7:30, around the big bonfire, each one eager to hear and see it all, and anxious to get a taste of the delicious ox, which had been roasting all day.

Shortly after 7:30, Kris Bemis, '75, mounted the platform, called the meeting to order (?), and proceeded, with jest and story, to introduce each speaker on the program.

Prof. King was in his usual good spirits, and kept the crowd laughing with a dramatic recital of his sundry and various experiences in connection with barbecues, banquets, etc.

Capt. Riblet was the second speaker, and paid students and college people in general a nice compliment for the generous support accorded the team this year, and calling attention to the game with De Pauw and the part they should have.

Coach Macklin and Assistant Cortright were called upon, and both, with a fund of stories, kept everybody happy, the former giving one or two summer experiences in which Prof. King had figured.

In the absence of Pres. Peterson, of the sophomore class, C. W. Loveland represented the class, and made a hit with his jokes and exhibits. He acknowledged that the freshman class was the best one which had entered M. A. C. since his time, and that, outside of some 200 or 300 which had to be brought under subjection, the rest were really very unassuming, as well as accommodating.

In passing the carving knife to the freshmen, he stated the class was proud of their record, and only hoped the first year men would make judicious use of same.

Pres. Mandenberg then received the knife, promising to keep it in good shape and free from rust.

The new male quartette was introduced, and was roundly applauded for their excellent work. The work of the band was highly appreciated, and added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Following the "burying of the hatchet," the crowds lined up on each side of the enclosure, the ox was lifted from the fire, and the dispensers of sandwiches and cider were kept busy for a couple of hours.

Kris Bemis was all that could be desired in the master of ceremonies; Fat led in the yells; the night was ideal for the affair; and thus passed the big, successful barbecue of 1912.

PROMENADE CONCERT.

The band will give the first promenade concert of the season at the armory Friday evening, Nov. 1st. To those not familiar with the promenades, a word of explanation will not be amiss. They are informal all-college functions, combination concerts and dances, to which the whole college community is cordially invited. The new students are especially urged to turn out and become better acquainted with the faculty and older students. In order to bring this about, it will of course be necessary for the faculty and older students to be on hand, and therefore they are also especially urged to all turn out.

The women of the college are invited to attend in a body, as they do at the mass meetings. In order to defray expenses, the men are charged the small sum of 15 cents each.

The band is working hard to present a fine program Friday night, and a good time is assured everyone:

KLAMATH INDIAN AGENCY.

Mrs. Landon is in receipt of the following letter from Mrs. Hettie Wright Phillips, and through her kindness we are allowed to publish the same:

"When the RECORD came this week, I felt that I owed you a letter to explain away the evident density of the postcard I mailed you a few weeks ago. I suppose it is due to the fact that it is so necessary to condense when putting several sentences on a postcard.

"The facts of the case are, that Mr. Phillips is under the civil service, his title is "Expert Farmer," and we are living at the agency, which is five miles from the nearest railroad station. When we came here, over two years ago, the distance of 34 miles from Klamath Falls was covered by boat in summer and stage in winter. Surveyors were at work there, however, and now the railroad extends 15 miles beyond Chiloquin. One hundred miles to the north another is coming this way, so we will soon have another to the north.

In some respects an agency resembles a small college town. There are two stores, a postoffice, an Indian boarding school, two dormitories, a school house and chapel, dining halls for employes and Indian children, and numerous cottages for the employes and their families.

Not counting foresters and policemen, there are some 35 employes on the reservation. Fifteen of these have families, so we are quite a little community all by ourselves.

This is a very rich soil, most of it being volcanic ash, but as we are in the semi-arid region east of the cascades, it has to be either irrigated or dry farmed.

We are within driving distance of Crater Lake National Park, and many tourists are through here in the summer. The attractions are the good hunting and fishing and Crater Lake. We are almost surrounded by mountains. Even when we look to the south, way beyond Klamath Lake is snow covered Mt. Shasta. Directly west, across the Cascades, is Medford. Mr. Reimer, '03, is at Medford. He is also working for Uncle Sam, but under a different department. Gordon Tower, '02, is near Ashland, and up at Portland is the Alumni Association for the state (Oregon). We should like to see more of our friends over on this side of the cascades, even if only for a hunting trip.

"I tried to give you, very briefly, an idea of what the Indian department is. When we entered the service we had no idea of what the work was like, and I suppose a majority of the people living east of the Mississippi are no wiser about this reservation work than we were then. Every reservation is in charge of a superintendent, and he has authority over every other employe. There are three different tribes of Indians here. * * *"

The RECORD aims to publish correct news items always, but just think what an interesting letter we have gained by that last slip. Am afraid this is inducement enough to make another. Wish we might have more like the above.—ED.

Dr. and Mrs. Blaisdell, with their two sons, Tom and Billy, spent Saturday and Sunday at M. A. C.

HORT. CLUB.

T. A. Farrand, of Eaton Rapids, an old time friend of the Hort. Club, addressed its meeting Wednesday evening. Mr. Farrand is in the midst of his big apple harvest, and told about the various phases connected with picking, packing and selling. An orchard at Grand Ledge which he has leased is said to be one of the finest in the state, being a young orchard, and mostly Northern Spys. His crop there is considerably over a thousand barrels.

Mr. Farrand is an enthusiastic pusher for Michigan horticulture, and is always ready to tell the fine points which he has acquired through experience. He touched upon the market conditions this year, and the labor problems as well, showing the difficulties of handling the crop. His talks are always welcome.

J. H. McClintock gave a resume of his work this summer as pathologist for the botany department. After everyone had sampled the Gold Drop peach, Pres. Hendrickson adjourned the meeting.

The celebrated Coburn Players are playing at the Gladmer this week, and a number of college people are taking advantage of the opportunity to witness Shakespeare's productions. The Merchant of Venice is given this evening; tomorrow afternoon, Taming of the Shrew; and Wednesday evening, Othello.

The Michigan Apple Show, held in Grand Rapids Nov. 12–16, promises to be bigger and better than ever. Practically all of the senior Horts. and a large number of juniors will attend. Fifteen seniors have been appointed by the class to give five minute talks on horticultural subjects. The usual prizes are offered for the three best talks. The show is held in connection with the annual meeting of the State Horticultural Society. The M. A. C. cadet band has been invited to furnish music on this occasion, which is certainly a fine compliment to our musicians.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS

Instructor Coffeen spoke before the Ingham County Farmers' Club, Saturday, at Mason.

Instructor Newlander, of our dairy department, was in Chicago last week, where he attended the National Dairy Show.

E. A. Yoke, '14e, who is home from Oklahoma for a short visit, called on college friends Friday. His home is in Lansing, where he will cast his ballot.

Politics is taking hold at M. A. C. among the students, and various clubs will no doubt be formed. The progressives held a meeting in 101 Agricultural Building recently, when officers were elected.

Michigan produced 50,000 feet of board lumber last season, costing, on an average, $50.00 per m. This was made from old orchards and wind fall trees. The product was used mainly in the manufacture of saw handles.

Prof. Baker's class in forestry has been visiting the lumber yards in the city the past two Saturdays, where they study the structure of woods taken up in the laboratory, after which commercial lumber in yard lots is inspected and explained. The average yard carries about 30 species. The large city yards carry from 50 to 60 species. The total number used in Michigan is about 100 species. The factories used last season 1,282,561,200 board feet of lumber. Of this amount, 62.6 per cent. was grown in Michigan.

Dean Shaw attended the Farmers'–Bankers' banquet, Friday of last week, held at Allegan.

Miss Freyhofer entertained the teachers of the Women's Building at luncheon at her home, Monday evening of last week.

Miss Frederica Hubbard, in college the past year, is now attending the German Wallac College, at Berea, Ohio, where she is specializing in music.

Miss Norma Ide, in college last year, was married recently to Mr. James R. Lowell. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell will be at their farm home after Jan. 1, at R. F. D. 4, Lansing.

Messrs. Lewis Fuller and son, '08, are planning to enlarge their poultry plant at East Lansing, and will winter 1,000 laying hens in order to take care of their rapidly growing egg trade.

An unusually large number of students desiring work has been taken care of this fall by the employment bureau, of which Mr. Loree is manager. Husking corn, digging potatoes, and picking apples have constituted the greater part of the work.

The judging team from the department of dairy husbandry returned Sunday night from Chicago, where they judged stock at the National Dairy Show. The team is composed of Messrs. Piper, Hamilton and Reed. Prof. Anderson, who also attended the show, is expected to return tomorrow.

Mr. O. K. White will address the Hort. Club Wednesday evening at 6:30.

Mrs. A. McCreary, of Indianapolis, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marti, on Grand River Ave.

Four new pianos were purchased for the department of music during the past summer. Two of these instruments are Vose and two Sohmer.

A new galvanometer, with a four foot scale, has been placed in the main physics lecture room. The light is focused on a screen from a concave mirror, which is inserted in the galvanometer.

Several beds of shrubbery are being torn up, the shrubs taken out, and will be replanted by new, clean stock from the college nurseries. A large part of this shrubbery had become old and worthless. Several of the new beds will be changed materially, and will be so planted as to avoid congestion.

President Taft, on February 25, 1911, following a review of 1,400 cadets at the University of Illinois, wrote as follows to the president of that institution: "We are all in favor of college athletics, but one of the defects of athletics is the tendency to confine work to those who are naturally best adapted to it, while the great student body takes no active part in the games. This is not true of military training that comes from the organization and maintenance of a school regiment."

Prof. and Mrs. Polson were called to Iowa Saturday, on account of the death of the former's mother.

James Waldron, '10, Tecumseh, is testing for advanced registry, under the direction of the dairy department.

Mr. Spragg, who has been spending a month at his old home in Montana, returned the past week, bringing his mother with him.

The directory of faculty and students is now in the hands of college people, and is a most valuable document. The directory was gotten out by Miss Yakeley.

Charles Oviatt judged the agricultural exhibit in connection with the Bangor street fair on Friday of last week. Mr. Chilson is the hustling teacher of agriculture at that place.

Grover J. Secord, a former M. A. C. man, writes from Silver City, New Mexico, that he has secured a position with the Terrabonne Sugar Co., of Montegat, La., for the coming season, and will report for work the latter part of October. Mr. Secord will be assistant chemist for above named company.

All electors of East Lansing should bear in mind the fact that to able to vote at the general election on Nov. 5, they must register Saturday, Nov. 2. All those in the first legislative district will register at the public school house, and those in the second district at the college power house. The hours are from 8 to 8.

ELLEN H. RICHARDS MEMORIAL FUND.

A nation-wide canvas is being made among educational people to raise a Memorial Fund in honor of Mrs. Ellen H. Richards.

Mrs. Richards is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with which institution she was connected for 40 years. For 25 years she was in charge of sanitary chemistry, and was the first to apply science to home betterment in matters of food, clothing, shelter, and the art of living.

She was founder and chairman of the Lake Placid Conference on Home Economics, 1899–1908, first president and then honorary president of the American Home Economics Association, 1908–1911, she established the Journal of Home Economics, 1909, the first publication devoted to the application of science to home problems. Its purpose is to establish temporary lectureships in colleges and universities, thus opening the way for regular instruction regarding the household, both in its private and public relationships; aid in the introduction of household arts into elementary schools and higher institutions; promote research and investigations into problems of food, clothing, housing, child care, sanitation, and household management; aid the housewife by popular bulletins bringing to the average home suggestions making for a higher level of comfort for the individual family group.

One hundred-thirty colleges, one hundred normal schools, seven hundred high schools and many other institutions already give courses of study in home economics. The Home Economics Fund will aim to furnish light and leading in this national movement for a better home life.

A canvas is to be made shortly of the faculty through the Omicron Nu Society, and it is hoped that all will be able to give the one dollar subscription asked for this worthy cause. As soon as the above canvas is completed among the faculty, one is to be instituted among the college students. In other institutions a twenty-five cent subscription is asked of the student body, and it is the plan of the society to adopt this, unless one cares to pay the larger amount.

We are very anxious to have a large subscription list to hand in to the trustees of this Fund.

COMMITTEE.

Dr. Lyman has been somewhat under the weather of late, and only able to be at his desk a portion of the day. Neuritis is the cause of the trouble.
