“I’m glad you ’phoned me, Jim!”

Of course he is happy about it. And any classmate of yours will be delighted to have you phone him when you are in his town and have some time to kill. Particularly if you have not seen each other for years... This is only one of the pleasant things that the Intercollegiate Alumni Hotels make possible. At each of these hotels is an index of the resident alumni of your college. When you are travelling and have a moment to spare, this index is a treasure trove of information for reviving friendships that mean much to you... Stop at Intercollegiate Alumni Hotels when you travel. You will enjoy the experience. And you will be helping the Alumni Office in furthering the work which it is doing.

BUILT BY REO

Reo in soundness of design, Reo in rugged strength, Reo in smashing power, Reo in long, long life, Reo in engineering leadership—the Reo Wolverine attracts those critical buyers who can't be misled.

Pit it against anything on the road—

anything, that is, except the Reo Flying Cloud—for quickness of get-away, braking, hill-climbing, ease of handling at any speed—even for speed itself.

You'll understand, then, what Reo quality can mean even at a price as low as $1195.

THE FINE CAR OF LOW PRICE

ALL over America it is becoming clear that Oldsmobile has done a very important thing. It has opened the fine-car field to thousands once barred by price!

This new car provides quiet, smooth performance, and the flowing power of a high-compression engine. It embodies the restful comfort of silenced interiors and Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers. The striking new bodies by Fisher excel in smartness of appearance and handsome appointments.

All these elements are offered in that perfect balance which has identified high-priced cars.

And no one need pay a premium to enjoy these qualities.

Motorodom was quick to recognize this fact. "Two years ahead," critics and engineers said. The public took up their praise and backed it with the sincere endorsement of enthusiastic buying.

And with Oldsmobile's brilliant performance becoming a matter of common knowledge, that public acceptance has grown and grown. It proclaims this product of General Motors as more than just a new car. It stamps it as the creation of an entirely new class of motor cars. It recognizes that in this class of cars Oldsmobile stands alone—The Fine Car of Low Price!

Only by driving the new Oldsmobile can you understand how completely it merits the enthusiastic admiration it is exciting!—why thousands are buying Oldsmobile. Come take that drive today!

Large Kellogg Farm Given to the College

WITH appropriate ceremonies on August 11 the large Kellogg farm of more than 700 acres, located just east of Gull Lake, near Kalamazoo, was dedicated formally to the use of the College for experimental and demonstration work. This farm will also be the goal of the annual Michigan potato growers, ending with the inspection of the certified potato plants on the Kellogg estate.

W. K. Kellogg, manufacturer of cereal foods at Battle Creek, established the farm in 1927. It has a wild life park which will be developed later. Hereafter, the farm will be conducted jointly by Mr. Kellogg, through his manager, George Getman, and the agricultural division of the College. Addresses at the ceremonies on August 11 were given by President R. S. Shaw, Dean J. F. Cox, Professor H. C. Rather, George Getman, and R. L. Olds, county agent of Kalamazoo county.

H. E. VanNorman, '97, of the American Dry Milk Institute, Inc., of Chicago, was one of the principal visitors to the World's Dairy Congress recently held in Great Britain. According to the Irish Times, of July 17, published at Glasnevin, Dublin, Dr. VanNorman in speaking for the visitors at Albert College, said: "Leaders in agriculture, the scientists, the teachers, and the heads of agricultural industries, have a tremendous responsibility in putting to work existing knowledge to produce for the masses a larger and fuller life." Prof. O. E. and Mrs. Reed, of East Lansing, were with the American delegation.

Anthony of West Virginia to Head Dairy Division

PROFESSOR Ernest L. Anthony, for the last nine years head of the Department of Dairy Husbandry, West Virginia University, has accepted the appointment here as head of the Division of Dairy Husbandry. This position was recently made vacant due to the appointment of Professor O. E. Reed as Chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Professor Anthony was born in 1888 at Wescott, Nebraska, was reared on a dairy farm in Missouri, finished the Columbia Normal Academy, 1908; was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1912 under Dr. C. H. Eckles. He became a member of the faculty of the Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pennsylvania, 1912, completed his M. S. degree at Pennsylvania State College, 1914. He resigned as acting head and Associate Professor of Dairy Husbandry, 1919, to become head of the Department of Dairy Husbandry, West Virginia University, which position he has occupied until this time.

Professor Anthony has been prominently identified with the research and educational side of dairying for many years and is the author of many dairy bulletins and papers. He is a member of American Men of Science, Chairman of the Production Section, American Dairy Science Association; also a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity; Gamma Sigma Delta, and Q. E. B. H., honorary societies.

Professor Anthony was appointed Niels Poulson Fellow for research study in Denmark 1923-24 and has traveled extensively studying the dairy development throughout Europe.

Professor Anthony is generally recognized as one of the leading authorities in the United States on dairy development, and is also nationally known as a cattle judge.

Memorial Given for College Hall Site

REMAINS of old College Hall, erected in 1857, the first building of its kind in the United States to be used for practical instruction in agriculture, will be cleared away this fall, according to a decision of the State Board of Agriculture.

Action of the board bears out persistent rumors that a memorial tower equipped with English chimes and a clock will take the place of the present landmark on the campus.

Secretary Halladay as well as the members of the board have given no publicity as to the donors. It is believed that the clearing of the site, and the erection of the towers, will be completed before the donors are announced.

Dean and Mrs. E. H. Ryder are spending the summer at Denver, Colorado.

Season Football Tickets Again Being Offered

SEASON football tickets will be adopted again this fall by the athletic department, according to announcements recently made by the Athletic Council. A transferable season ticket will be put on sale shortly by L. L. Frimodig, assistant director of athletics, who handles the ticket sale for all athletic events. The price of the book for all home games will be $7.00, permitting the purchaser a saving of $2.00 for the season. Provision will be made for the two home games where reserved seats are needed. Prices for the reserved seat home games have been reduced this year from $2.50 to $2.00. Tickets for the game at Ann Arbor and Detroit will cost $2.50, however.

General ticket application blanks have just been mailed to every alumnus whose address is in the alumni office file. Additional sets of application blanks may be secured by communicating with the athletic office. The full schedule for the season is shown on the back cover of this issue.

Members of the Central Michigan Alumni association will push the sale of tickets in the vicinity of Lansing. Other alumni groups can be of great service by handling blocks of seats in their respective communities. Without a doubt the stadium will be completely filled for the opening game.

Time and Change---

LOOKING over the old annuals and campus newspapers is like viewing a panoramic history of an institution itself. This generalization applies quite as well to Michigan State College as to any other college or university. Campus events, student opinion, indeed the very atmosphere pervading the college, emanate from the pages of the periodicals.

There are three main campus publications at Michigan State in 1928—the Wolverine, an annual; the Michigan State News, semi-weekly newspaper; and the Michigan Agriculturist. The first two are of greatest general importance, for the Agriculturist appeals only to the students and alumni of the agricultural division.

The first year-book to appear at what was then Michigan Agricultural college was "The Harrow," published in 1888 by the class of 1890. Though the first, it was by no means the least; for that ambitious class turned out such a book as would stand up well along with those of the present time. It is interesting to note that J. R. McCool, now a member of the state board of agriculture, was historical editor. Edwin Willits was then president of M. A. C. A feature of this annual is the clever drawings, which were done by B. K. Canfield, a sketch artist, who later studied in Paris and in Munich.

Three different year-books called the Harrow, and one called the Heliostat were published before the first Wolverine appeared in 1901. The editors announced their intention to make the Wolverine less of a hand-book and more of a literary annual. From then on, the name remained unchanged. In 1905 the "Gluck Auf," or "Good Luck" number was issued; and two years later, the "Jubilee" Wolverine, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the institution. That was the year that Theodore Roosevelt visited the campus.

At first the book was edited by the class which chose to undertake the responsibility. Later the junior class alone took over the work. But in the year 1920, under the editorship of Norval Tyrell, Detroit, the book was once more shifted, this time to the entire student body. Tyrell also promoted the idea of having a senior as editor each year. The 1928 Wolverine was edited by a staff headed by Burren Brown, of Levering.

The campus news-sheet was first called the Holcad, and founded in 1909, being published every two weeks. Now the paper appears on Tuesday and Friday of each week. The name was changed to Michigan State News in 1925 when Robert Powers was editor. Robert McInnis, Royal Oak, is present editor, with Warren Shook, Grand Rapids, as business manager.

One other important matter must be mentioned. For years subscription was entirely voluntary. In the spring term of 1926, it was voted to put both the Wolverine and the State News on a compulsory subscription basis. This went into effect the following fall, with charges of $3.50 for the Wolverine, and $1.50 for the State News. During the past year the News fee was reduced to $1.25 and the Wolverine remained the same as before. Next year, by vote of the student body, State News fee will be still further lowered to $1.00 for the college year.

Taylor, '15, Doubts Subjection of Lioness

Why "Fat" Taylor, '15, the well known veterinary surgeon of Detroit, has changed his views since starting his practice in Detroit no one knows. His friends say he never was afraid of the ladies while on the campus and wonder why a mere lioness should worry him now. The news clipping from Detroit, sent to The Record will explain.

Under a heading "Foilbles," E. J. Beck has this to say: "An animal act that was playing a Detroit theatre a few weeks ago found boarding accommodations for its caged cast at a veterinary hospital on Macomb street. When Dr. O. A. Taylor, of the hospital, took a look at the fragil bars that separated a ferocious-looking lioness from freedom, he expressed his doubts, "That powerful beast could easily brush aside those thin bars," he commented. "Don't you think you ought to have a more heavily built cage?"

"Don't worry," replied the trainer. "Africa was born in that same cage; she's been in it all her life; she doesn't know anything about a world beyond those bars. So she'll never try to break out."

The incident offers a fine illustration for an editorial writer or preacher to use. We all accept certain limitations of ours as being natural and pre-determined, they might say, and never try to break out or beyond. We remain ignorant of our own possibilities and powers, they might aptly point out.

"Where your cottage is there will your heart be also."

SPARTAN CLUBS

BERRIEN COUNTY

AMONG the most successful of summer alumni club picnics was the one held by the Berrien County M. S. C. Club at the "Indian Fields Park," in Berrien Springs, on the evening of July 25. Nearly fifty former students and alumni attended.

Following the very splendid picnic supper, President Arthur Eidson, '12, called on Glen Stewart, '17, our alumni secretary, who brought some new messages from the campus at East Lansing. Secretary Stewart urged the members of the club to take an active part in the Adult Education program which is about to be introduced to various colleges and universities by the officers of the American Alumni Council.

Bert Keith, '11, of Sawyer, told the folks more about his Mastodon ever-bearing strawberries, Kitty Handy Fuller, '16, let it be known that she was a candidate for county treasurer, and Joe Pratt bragged about his heavy crop of cherries and apples.

The alumni of Eau Claire invited the club to their town for an old-fashioned Halloween party on the evening of October 31. Bill

Parks, '00, of Benton Harbor, was greatly in favor of accepting the invitation and everyone will look forward for a big time. There was no time left for the others and the latter part of the evening was spent at the pavilion dancing.

CHARLES RICHARDS, '16,
Secretary.

SOUTH HAVEN

REVIVING of interest in alumni affairs was started in the vicinity of South Haven and western part of Van Buren county, when twenty-eight former students and alumni gathered at Covert Park on Lake Michigan for a picnic supper the evening of August 4.

A heavy rain late in the afternoon kept many at home, but President L. B. Karr, '24, was well pleased to see County Agent "Bill" Johnston, '91, of Paw Paw drop in with two sets of quoits and several iron stakes. A good game was soon on. Swimming was also enjoyed by several. Among the alumni who braved the black clouds and brought their families were Floyd Barden, '08, A. B. Chase, '93, Art Wessman, '26. Several undergraduates were guests of the club.

Alumni Secretary Stewart was present and informally mapped out a program of work for the next year involving three special meetings of the alumni of the South Haven district.

ANN ARBOR

SUMMER school students at the University of Michigan who had previously taken work at Michigan State met at the Allene Hotel in Ann Arbor on the evening of July 30. Since the hotel was under alterations the dinner hour was spent at Chubb's cafe on State street.

Guests from East Lansing who responded to short informal talks were Professor B. A. Walpole, of the education department, E. E. Gallup, state supervisor of Agricultural Education, and Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary.

The committee who originated the idea was composed of Bob Linton, '16, C. H. Horn, '21, and Hugo Swanson, '23. The success of the first meeting will result in a permanent alumni club in Ann Arbor as well as make it an annual social feature for summer school students.

Among those present who registered were: G. R. Bogan, '16, Clare; A. F. Speltz, '19, Pontiac, Ill.; B. A. Walpole, East Lansing; A. J. Hutchins, '09, Vero Beach, Fla.; R. S. Linton, '16, East Lansing; E. L. Grover, '07, East Lansing; C. M. Horn, '21, Bad Axe; E. E. Gallup, '95, Lansing; James A. Murray, '25, Norway; Hugo T. Swanson, '23, Escanaba; Mervin Sparling, '26, St.

FRED ALDERMAN, captain of the 1927 track team and the greatest sprinter in the history of the college, is shown above winning the I. C. A. A. A. quarter-mile championship from Launcelot Ross of Yale in '28.

For the first time in history Michigan State was represented in the Olympic meet this year when Alderman ran on America's 1,600-meter relay team. In this relay each man ran 400 meters, the equivalent of a quarter-mile, and a new world's record was established lowering the old time from 3 minutes 16 seconds to 3:15 1-5. America's representatives on the relay team in addition to Alderman were Baird of Iowa, former Big Ten king at the quarter; Spencer of Stanford, national champion in 1928 at the quarter; and Barbuti of Syracuse, who on August 3 won the Olympic championship in the 400. Following the Olympics, Alderman helped the United States team win in the International track and field meet at Cologne, Germany. He placed fourth in the 200-meter race and was a member of the winning 400-meter relay team.

HUNGER will awaken a baby,
it is desire for food;
thirst draws the caravan to the oasis, it is desire for drink; home calls the tired worker, for he desires rest.

Desire for riches makes man
labor. Fame and honor beckon.
Individuals seek to acquire that which they desire. Nations strive for national glory. All desire—something—a goal to reach; a task to do.

Alumni of Michigan State, in 1919 we made a promise, collectively we promised a Union Memorial Building to our Alma Mater.
Our collective promise is half fulfilled for the building is up and partially in use. Only the first floor of the building has been completed, and there are virtually no furnishings. We desire to complete this memorial.

And individually—how about us individually? One may find in the record books of the Union Memorial Building Fund, glorious pages to the eternal credit of the many who are keeping their pledge and meeting payments on their subscriptions—some at great personal sacrifice. Desire and fulfillment are one to them.

Then there are the records of those who have faltered. They will catch up eventually but their delay is holding up the entire project for completing the upper floors—

which are so much needed. May their desire to help become stronger.

And there are those who have promised Michigan State but who so far only promised. Here we can have only hope and trust.

Oh, alumni of Michigan State,
do not falter. Like an army advancing on its objective, let every person do his part and success will be ours. Each alumnus should see that his pledge is kept! Michigan State expects her sons and daughters to keep faith. Let every one do his bit and do it now! Keep payments up to date. Get this desire!

Information from the office of

that the enrollment for this fall will equal that of last year. "Freshman Week," the week of orientation for all newcomers, will be observed from September 19 to 22.
Registration of upper classmen is scheduled for September 24, with classes officially starting Tuesday morning, September 25.

A series of articles by Fred W.

5, 1928, have been put in pamphlet form and distributed under the title of "Produce Terminals and the Cost of Living." Henshaw spent some time studying terminal market facilities in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and New York City.

Reo Motor Car Company of Lansing earned slightly more than $1.50 a share during the second quarter of 1928, according to a financial statement recently released. There are 2,000,000 shares of Reo common on the market and the net profits of the company were $3,104,633.95. Horace Thomas, '01, is vice-president and chief engineer.

East Lansing will be served by a branch office of the Western Union Telegraph after September

Dr. John Rufi is back in East Lansing after teaching in the summer school at the University of Missouri. Dr. and Mrs. Rufi will move to Columbia, Missouri, within a few weeks, where the former has accepted a position as head of the Education Department.

Professor Bruce Hartsuch, of the Chemistry Department, is in Hutchinson, Kansas, doing some special work for the Carey Salt Company, in purifying salt and arranging to put some new types of salt on the market.

Work of redecorating the Agri-

Fu, '14, Writes From China
CRITICISM of Great Britain's interference in the Chinese struggle for unification and trust in Christianity as a rock among shifting sands are expressed in a letter received recently by Miss Elida Yakely, registrar, from P. K. Ku, of Canton, China, an alumnus of this institution. He is now acting as director of the bureau of sericulture for the Province of Kwongtung, China.

In reference to reports of Chinese deprecations, Mr. Fu said, "Much of the news of China is controlled by the British for it is the intention of the British to get China in wrong. Luckily, America is wise and uses her brains on things instead of following blind John Bull's dirty politics."

"Of course, China has done some wrong things in forcing the issue but she is not the only country that has committed indiscretions, for, in the history of any nation, you can find some elements that are liable to go farther than they ought. But things of this sort are beginning to disappear and I hope the future will be filled with better events—providing that John Bull doesn't do any more underhanded work to turn things from bad to worse."

"I hope that before long China will be again united. At this moment, America's friendly attitude is most desired as she seems to know more about the rights of a country—than all the rest of the countries of the world."

Orin Dausman died at his home in Saranac, Michigan, on May 18, 1928, following a short illness.

LOIS WOODBURY CLAY, 1927

Mrs. Henry Clay (Lois Woodbury, '27) was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Blissfield, Michigan, on June 16, 1928. Mr. and Mrs. Clay were enroute for Massillon, Ohio, when their car was struck by a car approaching from the opposite direction. Mrs. Clay was taken to a Toledo hospital, where she passed away the next morning. She was a graduate of the liberal arts division and a member of Tau Sigma. She was married on June 29, 1927, to Henry Clay, '28. They lived in East Lansing until Mr. Clay completed his course, and they were enroute to Mr. Clay's home when the accident occurred. Mrs. Clay was a sister of George W. Woodbury, '27.

MICHIGAN'S summertime beauty, the north woods, the inland lakes, the beaches, the wooded ridges, not forgetting the rocky shores of Lake Superior, are places vacation folks visit after talking to Tom Marston or officers of the East Michigan Tourists' Association. With the good roads now linking the busy industrial centers, people are afforded an opportunity to discover that Michigan is an ideal playground.

Coach Harry Kipke Lists Sixty-nine Men for September Football Camp

SIXTY-NINE names are included on the tentative list of candidates for positions on Coach Harry Kipke's 1928 football team, according to an announcement made last week by the athletic department. From this number, Coach Kipke will probably select forty or so to compose the squad that will be called back for early training.

Sixteen letter men form the backbone of the Spartan squad. The remainder of the list prepared by Coach Kipke is made up of a few reserves from last year, and a host of last year's freshmen, who will be engaging in their first varsity football campaign.

Assisting Kipke in handling the football team this fall will be three varsity coaches, two head freshmen coaches, and probably several assistant freshmen coaches. The assistant varsity coaches are Edliff Slaughter, like Kipke an All-American from the University of Michigan, who will specialize on the line; Ed. Vandervoort, another noted Wolverine lineman; and Miles Casteel, regular backfield coach at the college for the past four years. The freshmen squad, which usually numbers 100, will be handled by Coaches Ben Van-Alstyne and John Kobs.

First on the list of candidates for a place on the team is Captain Jack Hornbeck of Lansing, sturdy end. Fourteen others are trying for a flank post, including two veterans, Anderson of Lansing and Christensen of Petoskey, and three outstanding sophomores—Fogg of Jackson, Lindner of Grand Rapids, and Gafner of Escanaba.

Eighteen names are on the list of tackles, with Kamitz of Muskegon, Needham of Saginaw, Ferrari of Bessemer, and Joslin of Grand Rapids the veterans. Dill of Saginaw, Fricker of Massillon, Ohio, Ridler of Detroit, and Stine of Battle Creek are among the best of the new men.

Indications are that there will be a scarcity of guards in the Spartan camp, with only five prospects listed. The veterans are Hitchings of Petoskey and Moeller of Detroit, while Miller of Waukegan, Ill., is the best sophomore. There is a likelihood that several of the tackles may be made over into guards.

One veteran, Crabill of Battle Creek, stands out in the list of five centers, with Smead of Sturgis, an 186-pound chap who stands 6 feet 1 inch, the best sophomore. Crabill is the giant of the squad, standing five inches over 6 feet, and weighing 194 pounds.

There are seven quarterbacks numbered among the Spartan prospects, Deacon of Lansing, a two-letter man, leading the list. He is sure to have plenty of competition from two sophomores—Nordberg of St. Joseph and Define of Massillon, Ohio.

Fifteen halfbacks will vie for only two positions, with the more experienced men favored. These are Kurre of Owosso, Danziger of Detroit, Dickeson of Highland Park, and Wilson of Ashbury Park, New Jersey. Star sophomores are Durst of Lansing, Roger Grove of Sturgis, and Breen of Holland.

Henry Schau of Schererville, Indiana, with his 197 pounds and a year of experience, stands out among the fullbacks, but Erratt of Cheboygan and Streb of Birmingham are two sophomores who will keep him fighting for his place on the team.

"It was a fine thing to name a building after the Kedzies," writes W. L. Cumings from Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. He continues: "You can tell the fellows I am with the Bethlehem Steel company as geologist, and have been for twenty-two years. Feel like a veteran here. As geologist I have visited almost all the important iron ore districts and 'would-be' districts of the world and am still on the move. Last year at this time I was on a trip to Spain and North Africa, investigating iron ores, and I came back this May from my third trip up the Orinoco river in Venezuela. Tell the crowd that I have done better than I ever gave promise of doing when I entered M. A. C. as a 'runt' in 1889. And tell them also, that some may have more degrees and honors than I but I'll bet none of them have had a better time than I have had since '03. I will say this for the old school, the knowledge in botany and sciences there has contributed much to the ease with which I have enjoyed myself. I never regretted going there. By the way, I am also nominally head of a little forestry department that we have to look after our forest lands. Our forester is H. R. Heathman, who graduated at M. A. C. about six years ago."

M. G. Kains sends his blue slip with the following: "Writing horticultural articles for magazines, broadcasting station WOR, lecturing to hort societies, garden, botany clubs, and consultant practice. I've not had a chance to be farther west than Rochester, New York since 1915. That year I visited M. A. C., as it then was called, but the picture was not the same as during my college days. So far as I know only six people I knew those years ('91 to '95) are at the college still—Hedrick, Gunson, Kedzie, Newman, Butterfield, and Mrs. Landon. Several buildings are gone—old Wells, Williams, College Hall. Yet I would like to visit the old place, especially to see these old friends. One of the remarkable things, at least to me, is the development of a 'city' where I used to thresh out grass seed for Dr. Beal, and where only a small handful of houses existed in 1892." Mr. Kains lives in Suffern, New York.

E. A. Willson has been awarded one of the eighteen fellowships of the Social Science Research council. This fellowship provides for graduate work in rural sociology. The president and the administrative board of the North Dakota Agricultural College have given Willson a leave of absence for the academic year 1928-29, in order that he may accept the fellowship. He has elected to take the work at the University of Wisconsin under Dr. Kolb. He will take work in general sociology, agricultural economics and statistics in addition to rural sociology. He received his M. S. degree from the North Dakota Agricultural College in 1925, and the graduate work at Madison will apply toward a Ph. D. Mrs. Willson and their three children will accompany Willson to Madison.

Alice Powell regretted that she could not see her old friends on alumni day, but her vacation came later and she could not make the trip at that time.
Her visit last year was a little disappointing to her. She deplors the dust, noise and smell caused by the campus
"blivver" and suggests that M. S. C.
follow the custom practiced at Berea College, Kentucky, of closing its gates to automobiles except on special occasions. She also regrets that the old tradition about smoking is no longer regarded, especially in the Union building. Miss Powell is secretary to the business manager of Berea college, Berea, Kentucky.

Lou Butler, accompanied by her sister, Edith, and Ina Butler, '18, sailed for Europe on the S. S. Antonia on June 22.
They planned to spend three weeks in England with relatives and friends, later attending International Art Congress at Prague, Czecho-Slovakia. They will later tour northern Italy and Switzerland, returning home some time in September.

Howard Abbott went to the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, in 1925 as assistant professor of botany.
In 1926 he was made head of a separate department of botany where before botany was included under other biological subjects in one department. The importance of botany is growing at that institution, and they are proud of the fact that they granted an M. A. in botany the second year of becoming a separate department.

R. L. Baxter is with the Grand Rapids, Michigan, Varnish corporation. He says that 1522 Hall street S. E. will be effective after September 1. He reports that Frank J. and Mary Norton Sorauf, both '24, are the parents of a fine red-headed boy, Frank Jr.

Robert B. Huxtable is doing field cost and time work for the Reniger Construction company, and lives at 1303 N. Genesee drive, Lansing. While on a job in Marshall, Michigan, he reported the following men as active there: Hodges, county engineer; Sackrider, county agent in boys and girls club work; Jack Foster, newspaper advertising; Don Stark, agricultural teacher in high school; and E. B. More in the furniture business. Huxtable adds that Bob Cox recently went to Louisville, Kentucky, to work in road contracting.

Ruth K. Hodgeman has moved in Detroit to 2800 West Grand boulevard.

William and Ruby Clinton (w'18) Wood are living in Battle Creek, Michigan, at 60 Oaklawn avenue. "Red" is manager of the Auto Laundry at 316 W. VanBuren, and also has two filling stations. The Woods have two children, a girl six and a boy two.

1920

Stanley Powell, Secretary
Ionia, Mich.

E. E. Carpp, of the Lawrence Packing company, Lawrence, Michigan, writes: "Last fall Mrs. Carpp, June, and myself made a business trip east, visiting Washington, Philadelphia, New York, and Boston. We were home only a few weeks before we again started our car on a trip west. This time we took my parents to their old home up in the mountains of northern Colorado, then on to Glendale, California. There we rented an apartment and expected to stay all winter but were called back to Michigan by the illness of Mrs. Carpp's mother.

R. E. Trippensee notes: "Last April a brother and I organized the Trippensee Planetarium company, and since then have been able to keep out of mischief during my spare time promoting sales. The Planetarium which we are manufacturing is a school device for showing the positions and motions of the planets." Trippensee is also engaged in teaching general science at the South Intermediate school at Saginaw. He lives at 7 Gratiot court, Saginaw West Side.

C. J. and Edna Ceas McLean have moved in Dixon, Illinois, to 617 N. Ottawa avenue. McLean notes on his blue slip: "Have moved every spring for three years but am through for a while now as I am a proud home owner and a member of the landed aristocracy. Had to have dirt for son Jack, who is nearly a year old, to play in. Still hydraulic engineer for the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

Our First Thought

Is to serve you in such a way as to deserve your good will and confidence.

In order to do this we believe it is necessary not only to sell style right and quality right merchandise at reasonable prices. But also to make the conveniences of this store such that shopping here will be a pleasure.

It is for this reason that we have moved our shoe section to the main floor from the third floor. This move permits us to greatly enlarge our third floor rest rooms.

This change is made for your comfort and convenience.
