VOL. XXV.

EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 17, 1919.

NO. 4

THE EUSTACE HOUSE on Faculty Row, which, until this year, has been occupied by the professor of horticulture, is being moved straight north of its present location and will face Grand River avenue opposite the People's Church. The building will be repaired and will be used as a music building with offices for the director and rooms for various musical clubs of the campus. The Eustace House was built about 1885 and has continually been the home of the professor of horticulture. It is the first building in Faculty Row to be turned into a use other than that of housing members of the faculty.

AN EXHIBITION of landscape paintings made on the college campus by Samuel Kennedy, '02, is now being shown at the Sanitarium at Battle Creek. The exhibition is being conducted by Mrs. Kennedy and will be taken to several Michigan cities, including Detroit, Grand Rapids, Bay City and Saginaw, from Battle Creek. Mr. Kennedy is still on the campus making sketches and paintings of the autumnal colorings. Through Mr. Kennedy's painting the college is being given some unusual publicity. The Battle Creek papers have been very complimentary in their comments upon the exhibition and have mentioned the fact that the landscapes were made by a graduate, whose recollections of college days brought him back to add to the fame of Michigan and her Agricultural College through his transferring of the landscapes of his Alma Mater to canvases.

The SOPHOMORES were victorious in the annual class rush which was held Saturday previous to the Kalamazoo game. Only one event was taken by the freshmen, the tug of war, but it pleased them so to be able to drag the sophomores through the Red Cedar that they were willing to concede all the other events of the rush to the two-year men. The football rush, the flag rush, and the relay race were closely fought and proved intensely interesting to the spectators. The freshmen outnumbered the sophomores about two to one but they were not as well organized as the older class and lost out through their lack of concerted effort.

A HOSPITAL SERVICE for students has just been established by Dr. Bruegel, college physician. The hospital service headquarters are to be in Isolation Cottage B, back of the bacteriology building and Dr. Bruegel has office hours there from 8 till 9 in the morning, during which time students may come in for dressings, consultation or diagnosis. This service is free to students although when ill and confined to the hospital for any length of time they are charged $10 a week for medical attention. Miss Ethel Dietz is the nurse in charge of the hospitals under Dr. Bruegel's direction.

WIRES CONTINUE TO COME IN from all over the state requesting the reservation of seats for the Michigan game, and the pasteboards are being sold in Lansing and at the college at a rate never before known. Without question the Big Green team will be backed by the biggest band of boosters that ever traveled to an Aggie game. The 50-piece band is working on gridiron schedule, too, and will be ready to do its part in the winning of the battle. Every night this week will find the musicians hard at work on the drill ground at the college, and to a close observer it may appear that a movement resembling a victorious march is coming in for no small share of the time. Members of the band are certain they will be called upon to execute that particular part of their drill after the game Saturday, and are determined not to fall short in the ceremonial end. Two special trains over the Pere Marquette, one starting from Lansing and one from East Lansing will leave at 8:30 Saturday morning to carry the Aggie supporters to Ferry Field.

THE RECEIPTS for the first three football games of the season exceed those of any year in the history of the college, both in season tickets and single admissions. Gate receipts for the two opening games were not exceeded by any college in the country. $329 in cash was taken in at the Albion game, $140 at the Alma game, and $410 last Saturday when our boys met the Kazoo Normalites. In years past an opening game that brought in $200 at the gate was considered most unusual. 1,500 students and faculty tickets have been sold, and 400 additional season tickets. Excellent support from Lansing people is pointed to as one of the reasons for the successful financial opening.

A FACULTY RIFLE CLUB has just been organized among the college staff and meets in the Armory Tuesday evenings for rifle practice. At the organization meeting recently held it was decided to adopt the bylaws of the National Rifle Association and application for affiliation with that organization has been made. Any of the college staff are eligible. The officers of the club recently elected are President, Dr. Bessey, vice president, Prof. Dunford; secretary, Prof. Edwards; executive officer, Prof. Corey. The army gallery rifles belonging to the military department are used and ammunition is furnished at cost through the department. The team is being coached by Major Wrightson, Capt. Bell and Sergeant Robinson. Those who were not present at the organization meeting are invited to meet with the club Tuesday evening in the Armory from five to six. They expect to hold from two to three tournaments a term which will be in the nature of contests with outside teams.

ON NOVEMBER 5, 6, and 7, the home economics extension women from all over the state will meet at the college in conference, to make plans for the year's work. All county home demonstration agents, special extension workers and leaders will be present. Wednesday, the 5th, will be given over to milk work, with Miss Coral Havens, '00, in charge; on Thursday, Edna V. Smith, '03, will present home management problems, and on Friday Miss Helen Arns, extension specialist in clothing, will have charge of the program. The meeting has been planned at this particular date to enable the M. A. C. folks to be here for the home-coming game with South Dakota on Nov. 8. Reservations will be made for all desiring to attend the game through either the athletic or the alumni offices.

THE MICHIGAN STATE TEACHERS' Association Institute will hold its 66th annual meeting in Detroit Oct. 30th and 31st. In the advance announcement of the program a number of M. A. C. names appear. Garrett Masselink, '95, is president of the resolutions committee of the Association. In the section programs in agriculture, Ray Turner, '09, is chairman and Walter Rawson, '16, is secretary. The agricultural section meets Friday at Central high school and Prof. French, E. E. Gallup, '96, and E. N. Grover, '07, will have a share in the round-table conference. Leaders in the general discussion are L. R. Servis, '13, M. A. Russell, '13, and Robert Linton, '16. Alice Cimmer, '00, is secretary of the home economics section which meets Friday morning at Central high school. R. A. Turner is also secretary of the Michigan School Gardens Association which will meet in two sessions during the meeting and will hold a banquet following the first session. The headquarters for the Association are at the Hotel Statler. M. A. C. alumni attending the meeting will hold a banquet Thursday evening, October 30th at the Detroit Board of Commerce.

THE MICHIGAN GAME.

The classic athletic contest of the state of Michigan will be fought this week on Ferry field. There is probably no other game played in the state each year that attracts such state-wide attention or such great crowds as the Michigan-M. A. C. football fray. Many University alumni and certainly almost every M. A. C. graduate would rather witness that game than any other on the schedules of either team. The crowd that is drawn for the contest each year has grown to be the largest that Ferry field is called upon to accommodate.

It is a fortunate thing that both of Michigan's larger institutions of learning are situated as close to each other as they are and that so many students are able to attend the great game each season. The visiting of the University campus itself is an inspiration, one cannot help but be impressed with the many magnificent gifts of alumni that grace the University campus.

But the game itself is the real exhilaration both to the students and to returning alumni. The immense stands and the throngs that completely fill them, the cheering, the bands, the yell leaders, the teams, but most of all that something that we call college spirit, an indefinite thing, that dominates two sides of the field and is alive and intense from the time the crowd gathers until it disperses.

The attendance at this greatest game in Michigan we wish could be a part of every student's college course, to be enjoyed at least once before graduation and to leave its imprint on every man and woman of both institutions. The good that comes from witnessing one big game cannot be measured in terms of a curriculum.

HOW ABOUT YOUR CARD?

Have you noticed our Alumni Business and Professional directory on page 2 of the Record? Is your business card there? We believe that M. A. C. business men can serve M. A. C. folks better than anyone else, and you believe it, too. We know the displaying of your business card will be an asset to us—it helps show the type of men M. A. C. is turning out—and it cannot help but be of benefit to you. If you have something good, tell your M. A. C. friends about it; they will be glad to patronize you. "ADVERTISE." Keep your service before the people. This is the keynote of modern business success. M. A. C. people should not be behind the times.

It is interesting to notice that the men who were students back in the 80's and 90's appreciate the old college spirit and connections more perhaps than the younger ones. They realize its value because of their riper experience, and are not slow to take advantage of it. To capitalize this spirit is not mercenary, but is rather an evidence of good business sense.

OLSON '16, RECEIVES MEDAL FOR AGRICULTURAL WORK.

During the war the agriculturalist was usually thought of as the producer at home. Engineers, doctors, and many other types of professional men found work in their calling on the battlefield, but not so for the farmer. It is therefore an unusual distinction that falls upon an M. A. C. soldier in being decorated for actual agricultural work done just behind the battle lines in France.

Olaf A. Olson, 'Ole,' '16, of Escanaba, Michigan, has that distinction. He received a medal for special agricultural work done in France last year. He was made Garden Officer for the Intermediate Section S. O. S. in March, 1918, and in that capacity organized and started gardens and farms near all permanent posts and camps in the section. Last year 950 acres were under cultivation, consisting mostly of potatoes, cabbage, carrots and the common vegetables. About 2,000 acres were ready for planting this past spring when orders came abandoning all farms and dis-continuing the garden service due to the fact that all troops were expected to be out of France by July. May 1 he was made agricultural officer for the Intermediate section, and organized agricultural classes and farmers' clubs, and arranged institutes and trips to neighboring farms to study actual farming operations.

"In all my experience with farm work over here," writes Olson, "and in the raising of vegetables, I still fail to see where the so-called French methods in agriculture are superior to American methods, and I believe we have introduced a few ideas with our American implements and methods of preparing and tilling the soil, planting and harvesting the crops, which may change their ancient ideas of farming to a slight extent."

Olson entered the First Officers' Training Camp at Ft. Snelling, Minnesota, May 11, 1917, and was commissioned second lieutenant in August. He received a second lieutenantcy in March, 1919.

DETROIT CLUB WEEKLY LUNCHEONS.

The M. A. C. club of Detroit have resumed their weekly luncheons at the Board of Commerce. They now lunch together every Wednesday noon in Private Dining Room Number 4 at the Board of Commerce and they extend a very cordial invitation to all former students of M. A. C. as well as graduates to join them there on Wednesdays.

J. S. TAYLOR, NEW MUSIC DIRECTOR.

Music at M. A. C. entered a new era this fall when J. S. Taylor was made director. Mr. Taylor, who is a graduate of Oberlin college and the American Conservatory of Music at Chicago, comes to us from Beloit college, Wisconsin, where he has been teaching music. He will be assisted by Miss Louise Freyhofer, instructor in piano.

"We want a singing college as well as a yelling college," declares Mr. Taylor. He says we must have some genuine song and yell practice, before we can go to a big football game and root and sing "with a punch." He expressed his intention of organizing the glee clubs and chorus only after individual practice had been given the prospective members. "At present," he said, "there are forty vocal students and before the end of the fall term there will be one hundred students in the musical department. In a couple of months we will go ahead and organize the glee clubs. We will later use the glee club as a nucleus for the chorus."

A book of songs especially designed for M. A. C. is being compiled by Mr. Taylor. He hopes later to write a melody for a college song, and thus overcome one of the greatest needs of the institution. Mr. Taylor insists that the reason that M. A. C. has no new songs is that we don't get together and learn new ones. The student body must attend the mass meetings and when asked to sing, they must sing.

A college orchestra will soon be organized by the new director. With the organization of an orchestra and the reorganization of the band, glee clubs, and musical union there is the prospect of a permanent department of music. For the present, the musical department will be located in the gymnasium at the right of the entrance in the space previously occupied by the military department, and used for alumni rooms during the commencement reunions.

—R. H. GORSLINE.

NEW PARLORS IN WOMAN'S BUILDING.

Many changes have been made in the Women's Building during the summer. Students no longer live on the first floor. The rooms back of the reception room at the front have been made into two parlors extending through to the north end of the building. These are very tastefully furnished in blue and gray, with gray wall paper, and blue rugs and draperies. Several very beautiful new pictures have been added. The rooms on the back of the building on the north end have been turned into offices for the household arts department, and the room at the extreme north end is the Y. W. C. A. room. This has a piano and sewing machine for the use of the students, and is furnished in red.

The old household arts (domestic art) office at the extreme south end has been turned into a fitting room, and the old lecture room at the southeast corner has been equipped for a cooking laboratory. The parlor on the second floor is now used for a household arts laboratory. The home economics extension people have moved their offices into the southeast corner of the Forestry building, and their former rooms are occupied by students. All gymnasium work is of course taken in the new gym, as last year the gymnasium in the Women's building was turned into a large lecture room for the girls.

A large number of the paintings by S. J. Kennedy, '02, which made up the commencement exhibit have been temporarily loaned the department by Mr. Kennedy and are hanging in the corridors of the building.

KALAMAZOO NORMAL PUTS OVER FIRST DEFEAT.

Michigan Aggies suffered defeat at the hands of Western State Normal Saturday 21 to 18, when the Kazoo eleven opened up with a world of speed in the third quarter and put across three touchdowns in rapid-fire order. Olson, veteran back on the visiting team, was the big star for the winning aggregation, his generalship and years of experience being the biggest factor in the victory.

The game seemed to be easy picking in the first half when the Aggies ran up a score of twelve points against their opponents. During this period, the ball was in enemy territory practically all the time and the Big Green had little trouble in making big gains through the line and several runs through broken fields. Hammes, Schwei, and Springer were going like clockwork, and Noblett managed to get away for a couple of long runs.

Probably the greatest strength in the M. A. C. team throughout the game lay in the big line, which opened great holes for the backs to go through and which was nearly impregnable in defense. Vandervoort and Coryell on the left side of the forward wall and Franson and Miller on the right side, were charging their men from the opening whistle and many an attempted end run was spilled for a loss by a Big Green guard or tackle.

Forward passes proved the stumbling block for Brewer's men, who seemed absolutely unable to combat the aerial game played by the Kazoo outfit after the first half of the game. End runs and line bucks failed in nearly every case, though the powerful Olson managed to get through the whole Aggie team a couple of times. Dunlap was hard to stop once he was started in a broken field, but his attempts at circling the end were invariably broken up. This was largely due to the defensive play of Ramsey and Thomson on the ends.

The game was lost entirely through M. A. C.'s inability to kick goals. Hammes missed all three goals, while Dunlap placed his through the bars in one, two, three order.

Final score: M. A. C., 18; Normal 21.

Far from being disheartened by Saturday's game, but realizing that worlds of improvement must be made in the next four days, Aggie coaches have pitched into the grooming with every ounce of their energies and football knowledge. They are aided by the fine condition in which the squad came through the Kazoo grind. Not a cripple is counted among the gridders now, and every man is trained up to the minute.

"Brownie" Springer was the only man out of uniform Monday afternoon but he was on the field and followed the varsity through every play. The little pilot was back in cleated shoes Tuesday, however, and ready to lead the team through the maze of new plays in which they have had initial drilling.

STRONG ALL-FRESH TEAM.

The All-Fresh team just chosen promises to be one of the strongest, if not the very best in the history of the college, according to Frimodig, '17, who is the official fresh coach. "Besides the high school training which these men have all had," states "Frim," "some of them also played in army teams last year, and have the benefit of additional experience and good coaching. At least three of the men would make the varsity if they were eligible." The following men will play at Hillsdale next Friday: Center, Morrison of Alpena; left guard, Thorpe of Menominee; left tackle, LaFond from Lansing; left end, Finlay of Hartford; right guard, Higgins of Lansing; right tackle, Swanton of Ishpeming; right end, Robbins of Owosso, or Stuart of Hadley; quarter back, Brady of Allegan; full back, Johnson of Newberry; and half backs, Stephins of Newberry, and McMillan of Detroit. It is interesting to note that all of these are Michigan men, with four from the Upper Peninsula.

As a special treat, the fresh team will be taken to Ann Arbor from Hillsdale, on Saturday morning to witness the "big fight," as guests of the athletic department.

The All-fresh plays Hope College at their field on October 25, and Central Normal at home on November 1. On November 8 they will do battle with the Notre Dame Fresh at Notre Dame and will meet our own varsity at the college on the 22d. The final game will be played on Nov. 27 at Detroit with the Detroit Junior College.

MASS MEETING WITH PREWAR SPIRIT.

The mass meeting held in the gym last Friday night showed more M. A. C. "pep" than any similar meeting staged in several years. It was a rather impromptu affair, the students grouping themselves around the band on the main floor of the gym, completely filling the room. After several band selections, the new "Song of the Aggies," written by Music Director Taylor, was rehearsed. This song is an inflator of spirits and will be used at the Michigan game. "Fat" Taylor, '15, an old time yellmaster, and "Skinny" DeYoung, present yellmaster, brought forth some good response. Coach Brewer commented upon the return of the old time spirit, and A. L. Bibbins, "Bib," '15, remarked upon this same spirit shown by the new men and women here. Jerry DePrato, M. A. C.'s star full-back in 1915 when we defeated Michigan by a score of 24-0, spoke briefly. He is back to help get the team in shape for the Michigan game.

A monster mass meeting is planned for Thursday in the gym, the final get-together before the big game.

"FIGHT SONG" BY LANKEY '16 PUBLISHED.

The "Fight Song," written by Lieutenant F. Irving Lankey, '16, who was killed in an aeroplane crash in Florida last May, is being formally introduced as a college cheer song this week. It is being played and sung at the mass meetings preparatory to the Michigan game.

The song was written and has been used many times while Lankey was in college but has never before been published. Miss Claudis Kober, '19, who has keenly realized M. A. C.'s need of an individual and characteristic song and who is a friend of Lankey's, has had the song published at her own expense. Copies are expected upon the campus this week and will be sold at a price that covers only the printing cost.

Both students councils accepted the "Fight Song" last spring as an official M. A. C. song.

Many of "Lank's" friends among the alumni who know the song will be pleased to learn of its publication and the fact that it has been made an official song. Copies may be ordered through the Alumni Office.

THREE REMARKABLE BOOKS

BY GEORGE FREDERICK GUNDELFINGER, PH. D.

"A Pessimistic Carlyle-in-miniature."

THE ICE LENS (Drama). $1.25 Postpaid.

TEN YEARS AT YALE (Essays). $1.10 Postpaid.

THE NEW FRATERNITY (Fiction). $1.50 Postpaid.

We are bringing Mr. Gundelfinger's books to the attention of the readers of this particular periodical because we have not only been assured in advance that the "advertiser's message will be read," but have also been told that it will be read by "leaders in thought and action."

Mr. Gundelfinger's books are not being read by those "loyal" and popular Yale graduates who attend reunions regularly in order to indulge repeatedly in the degrading dissipations of their college days and who occasionally deposit a check in the Alumni Fund and then feel that they have done their bit for their Alma Mater.—But they have been read by several hundred "disloyal" alumni who are doing their utmost for the salvation, betterment and progress of Yale even though this involve the sacrifice of certain stagnant traditions which give the place that mellowness which precedes decay and in which the average graduate takes that pride which goeth before a fall.

For a college or a university may encourage among its graduates a "loyalty" which is just as showy and unrighteous as was the "patriotism" of the German Empire. But an Alma Mater, like a Fatherland, may also have given birth to some sons whose thoughts are in advance of those of their easy-going brothers—sons who foresee impending calamities—sons who have salutary dreams, but who lack the courage which would bring them to pass—sons who are unconsciously awaiting the shocks that will arouse them into doing and daring.

Mr. Gundelfinger's books were the shocks that aroused Yale. "The most sensational and amazing arraignment of Yale or any other university ever published." The fact that the Yale Alumni Weekly declined to advertise, review or even refer to these books did not intercept the transmission of these shocks to Yale's "leaders in thought" who, after reading them, were immediately transformed into "leaders in action." This trilogy has worked and is working regenerative revolutions at the university; they have been the stimulus behind and the prophecy before the Great Post-Bellum Reconstruction recently voted by the Yale Corporation.

However, these books were not written for Yale men only; they were written because Mr. Gundelfinger went to college—not because he went to Yale. Despite the "distinguishing characteristics" claimed by various educational institutions, all colleges and universities are alike in that they have the same faults irrespective of their peculiar virtues. Mr. Gundelfinger has concentrated on DEFECTS in the modern academic world, and it is for this reason that his books should be and will be read by "leaders in thought" at ALL places of higher learning in America. There is, to be sure, nothing new about this subject-matter; it is his unique style which makes his books "conspicuous for their absence in the threadbare literature of education." Whether he uses the drama, the essay or the novel as medium he not only courageously opens the shutters on those deplorable conditions which all thinking alumni have observed and pondered over, but he focuses the light in such a way that it cannot fail to inflame dormant thinkers EVERYWHERE and impregnate them with the activities of reform and reconstruction.

Lack of space prevents us from reprinting here all the unsolicited endorsements, positive and negative, which have been received from college presidents, officers, professors, alumni, under graduates, editors and book-reviewers all over the United States,—but we will gladly mail copies on request.
