ACADEMIC COSTUME

The pageantry and color at commencement exercises reveal a record of academic achievement of the various individuals taking part in the exercises. The following brief description is given that the audience might more readily interpret such achievement.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, met at Columbia University to draft a code which would serve to regulate the design of gowns and hoods indicating the various degrees as well as the colors to indicate the various faculties. This code has been adopted by most of the colleges and universities in America and its use has made identification of scholastic honors an immediate activity.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. The arm goes through a slit, giving the appearance of short sleeves for the master's gown. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

Historical associations of color have been continued to signify the various faculties. Arts and letters can be recognized by the white, taken from the traditional white fur trimming of the Oxford and Cambridge Bachelor of Arts hoods. Red, long traditional of the church, indicates theology. The royal purple of the King's court signifies law. The green of medicinal herbs immediately identifies a medical degree. Philosophy is signified by the color of wisdom and truth, blue. Because through research untold wealth has been released to the world, science is identified by golden yellow. Oxford pink indicates music, and russet brown, the color of dress worn by ancient English foresters, indicates forestry.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the bachelors graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the leading land-grant universities and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in affording liberal and practical education for its students in a broad range of human endeavors.

MSU also serves people of the state, nation and world through its numerous research, extension and international programs.

Now in its 117th year, Michigan State has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the largest universities in the nation. It has more than 3,000 staff members engaged in teaching, research and public service, 428 buildings, and approximately 5,000 acres of land of which 2,010 acres are in existing or planned campus development.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day—farming—MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of today. Michigan State now has the School for Advanced Graduate Studies and 16 colleges—Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Justin S. Morrill, Lyman J. Briggs, Natural Science, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science, Veterinary Medicine and the University College. Nearly 200 areas of specialization are available to undergraduates; approximately 300 are offered for graduate students.

The Honors College, which enables superior students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. Michigan State University also is a prominent sponsor of the National Merit Scholarship Program, an unusually select group of scholars.

One of the many innovations in higher education made by Michigan State University is its coeducational academic-residence halls. Incorporation of classrooms and faculty offices with living, dining and recreational facilities has given these giant dormitories, now nine in number, a stimulating academic environment. Each of these halls is the center of curricular and noncurricular activities, creating a "college within a college" atmosphere.

The "small college within the larger university" concept was introduced at MSU by the establishment of the Justin S. Morrill College, which offers a limited enrollment liberal education program with an international emphasis. The concept was expanded by the establishment and opening of the James Madison College and the Lyman J. Briggs College. James Madison offers a curriculum for the study of public policy problems within the framework of the social sciences and related disciplines. Lyman Briggs makes available a liberal curriculum for students especially interested in science and mathematics.

Today, more than 40,000 students attend the University at East Lansing. About 80 percent are from Michigan, representing every section of the state. Students also come from every state in the nation and 81 foreign countries.

In the land-grant tradition it pioneered, Michigan State University is concerned with research and service as well as teaching.

All colleges and the Agricultural Experiment Station are engaged in a wide range of research. Approximately 2,000 individual projects are in process. The University's research tools include the Control Data 3600 and 6500 Computers, a 50-million-volt cyclotron, and the MSU Observatory which houses a three-ton, 24-inch reflecting telescope. Modern facilities include the following buildings: chemistry, biochemistry, psychology research, veterinary medicine, plant science research, natural resources, food science, pesticide research, and Life Sciences I.

Through an agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission, MSU has become a national center for basic research on plants and their reactions to radiation; involved is construction of a $2 million building, a staff of approximately 90 persons and an annual budget of approximately $1 million.

Benefits of the University are brought to every county in Michigan by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Continuing Education Service. Their programs, on and off campus, provide a wide range of technical information and formal course work for hundreds of thousands of Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 50,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Michigan State University's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, Michigan State University maintains research and technical assistance projects in Asia, Africa and Latin America. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

With more than a century of educational achievement behind it, Michigan State University continues to apply its academic and physical resources to the problems of today and the challenges of the future.

HONORARY DEGREES

ADRIAN RAYMOND CHAMBERLAIN

Since your graduation from Michigan State University, you have pursued a notable career as an engineer, educator, and administrator. Because of your imaginative application of your professional knowledge, you have succeeded in a broad range of responsibilities: as a professor of civil engineering and director of engineering research at Colorado State University, and as a consultant on engineering projects, particularly hydraulic structures problems, both in this country and abroad. Your extensive work with the National Center for Atmospheric Research and other Federal agencies has demonstrated your deep concern for our natural environment and for human welfare. Through your devotion to truth and the best traditions of the land grant philosophy of education, you have made an excellent record in a variety of academic positions. In your present capacity as President of Colorado State University, you have shown an unusual talent for resolving complex educational problems. In recognition of your valuable contributions to higher education and to the advancement of American environmental science, Michigan State University is pleased to grant you the degree of Doctor of Engineering.

LESTER J. EVANS

During the half-century of your career as a physician, you have been a major force in guiding American medical education toward greater integration within the university, increased emphasis on the behavioral sciences and enlarged responsibility for improving health care in the community. As Executive Associate for Medical Affairs of the Commonwealth Fund from 1928 to 1959, you were directly engaged in funding and advising new medical schools and in designing innovative programs at established schools. Since your retirement, you have continued your distinguished service to medical education as a consultant to national and international organizations. From 1965 until 1969, as a visiting professor in our College of Human Medicine, you had a very important influence on the distinctive philosophy and the creative developments that characterize this institution's medical program. In recognition of your contributions to the health care system and its service to mankind, and your exceptional leadership in the advancement of medical education at this and other institutions, Michigan State University is pleased to grant you the degree of Doctor of Medical Science.

ALAN PIFER

Your career as an educator and foundation executive has been an outstanding one. Because of your intellectual integrity, wisdom and devotion to excellence in American education, you have served with uncommon success in a variety of demanding administration positions. Through such distinguished efforts as the establishment of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education you have remained in the forefront in keeping the academic community, the nation, and our government both enlightened and concerned about major issues confronting higher education, the need to review priorities in the total education enterprise, and the significance of support to higher education as a fundamental resource to respond to major social responsibilities and opportunities. In your capacity as President of the Carnegie Corporation, you have shown through these and related endeavors a continuous concern for the quality both of teaching and of learning in our colleges and universities. Through your leadership in other organizations, such as the New York Urban Coalition, the Council of Social Work Education, and the African-American Institute, you have advanced the cause of human dignity and social justice. In all of your professional activities, you have contended firmly and fairly for the democratic principle in our institutions and our society. Because of your strong sense of social responsibility and the valuable contributions which you have made to educational and cultural life in America, Michigan State University is pleased to grant you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

U THANT

Through your long and devoted service to the cause of peace and harmony among nations, you have written an important chapter in the history of international social progress. As Secretary-General of the United Nations for the past decade, you have been entrusted with heavy responsibilities, and you have fulfilled them with determination and creative vision. While a writer and educator in your native Burma, as in all your endeavors, you expressed your concern for the welfare of your fellow man and your deep loyalty to the principles of liberty and human dignity. You have eloquently affirmed and defended those principles, not only in the deliberations of the United Nations, but in international conferences throughout the world. Because of your exemplary service to mankind, your dedication to human rights, and your sustained faith in the enduring values of brotherhood among men and nations, Michigan State University is pleased to grant you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

ELI BROAD

Class of 1954. Mr. Broad's combination of enthusiasm and determination has served him well throughout his life, resulting in a highly successful career in home building. Mr. Broad is president of Kaufman & Broad, Inc., a firm he co-founded in Detroit in 1957. The firm, based in Los Angeles, was founded with a modest investment and is now recognized as the nation's largest independent homebuilder. Mr. Broad graduated from Michigan State University with honor with a degree in business administration and a major in accounting. After graduation he became a junior accountant with a Detroit certified accounting firm and in 1954, at the age of 20, he became the youngest man ever to pass all five parts of the Michigan CPA examination. He then formed his own CPA firm and also taught accounting at the Detroit Institute of Technology where he was an assistant professor. A short time later he formed Kaufman & Broad. In 1968 Mr. Broad was the recipient of MSU's Distinguished Business Alumni Award. He is listed in "Who's Who in America." Mr. Broad currently is serving as a member of the MSU Alumni Association Development Council.

A. R. CHAMBERLAIN

Class of 1951. In addition to recognition of Dr. Chamberlain as a distinguished alumnus, he is also the recipient of an Honorary Degree (see page 11).

RUSSELL G. MAWBY

Class of 1949 and 1959 (Ph.D.). Dr. Mawby, who graduated from Michigan State University with distinction in 1949, has continued to distinguish himself in his professional career. Last year he was elected president of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation national philanthropic organization. Prior to his appointment as president, he had served as vice president of the foundation for two and one-half years. Dr. Mawby joined the Kellogg Foundation in 1965 as director of the foundation's division of agriculture. A year later he was appointed vice president-programs. Dr. Mawby graduated from Michigan State with high honor with a degree in horticulture. He received a master's degree in agricultural economics from Purdue University in 1951 and then returned to Michigan State where he received the Ph.D. in that field. In 1950 he joined the Department of Agriculture at Purdue as an extension specialist in retail merchandising and in 1952 Dr. Mawby joined Michigan State's Department of Agricultural Economics as an extension specialist in marketing. After two years of military service he rejoined the department as an extension specialist in public affairs education before he was named assistant director of the Cooperative Extension Service responsible for 4-H and Youth Development Programs in 1956. He had been appointed as an instructor at Michigan State in 1952, was promoted to associate professor in 1959 and full professor in 1961. Dr. Mawby is chairman of the Gull Lake Board of Education and he is a member of the Adult Education Association of Michigan and U.S.A. and the American Agricultural Economics Association.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

GEORGE B. PETERS

Class of 1936. After graduating from Michigan State University in 1936 with a degree in mechanical engineering, Mr. Peters quickly rose to prominence in his chosen field. He was employed by the Sutton Tool Company in Detroit as a designer and engineer before becoming vice president and general manager of the Detroit Die Setting and Manufacturing Company in 1939. In 1941 he joined the Aurora Metal Corporation of Aurora, Illinois as an engineer and technical advisor to the president of the corporation. Four years later he was promoted to vice president of the firm and its board of directors. He was promoted to president of Aurora in 1954 and in 1957 he was elected chairman of the board. He is a member of the board of directors and vice president of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce and is chairman of the chamber's Respect for Law and Order Committee. He is also past president of the Greater Aurora Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Peters is a member of the Governor's Advisory Council and the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. Currently, he serves as a director of the Merchants National Bank of Aurora, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and the John Howard Association. He is a member of the American Society for Metals, American Foundrymen's Society, Illinois Society of Professional Engineers, National Society of Professional Engineers and the American Management Association, the Union League of Aurora and the Union League of Chicago. He has been elected to Phi Lambda Tau, honorary engineering society, and he holds life membership in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He is past president of the Exchange Club, Aurora United Community Services, the Valley Industrial Association and the Aurora Country Club.

EDWARD E. ROTHMAN

Class of 1921. Mr. Rothman, a long-time supporter of Michigan State University, is retired from a highly successful career in advertising and continues to devote much time and effort in behalf of the University. Mr. Rothman has served as a member of the MSU Alumni Association Development Council since 1960 and presently he is vice chairman of the Council. He attended Michigan State University from 1917 to 1919 and then attended the University of Pennsylvania where he received his degree in economics. After graduation Mr. Rothman joined Campbell-Ewald in Detroit until 1936 when he became vice president of Mac Manus, John and Adams, Inc. for three years and then was consultant with Ethyl Corporation from 1939 to 1942. Mr. Rothman served as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force and while in the service was awarded the Bronze Star. He rejoined Campbell-Ewald in 1949 where he served as a director, senior vice president and general manager until 1955 when he became general advertising and sales promotion manager for the Ford Motor Company. In 1962 he went into consulting and in 1965 he was named president of Flexitype & Douglas Offset Company of Detroit. He has served the community as a trustee emeritus for the William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, a trustee and vice president of the Detroit Museum Art Founder's Society and as a budget committee member for the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan. He is a member of the American Marketing Association, Psi Upsilon, Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, Metamora Hunt Club, the Adcraft Club of Detroit and the Recess Club. In 1960-61, Mr. Rothman was listed in "Who's Who in America."
