

Amandla makes the link between today's mounting struggle against apartheid society and South Africa's history. It simply and accurately tells the story of the generations of African resistance.

Using historical pictures seldom seen in this country, it paints an unforgettable portrait of Africans fighting for elemental rights: the right to vote, to own land, to lead a government. It shows how they organized and fought through their own organizations for a free and truly democratic society only to be met by frustration and white adamancy. The formation of ANC, PAC and BCM, the Congress of the People, the Treason Trial, the Sharpeville Massacre, the trade union movement and today's situation are incorporated in a rich overview.

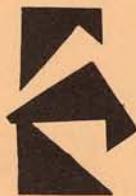

Especially designed by Peter Davis, the creator of the highly acclaimed Generations of Resistance, Amandla is designed for classroom teaching. While aimed at high school level, it is equally useful as an introduction to South Africa issues for college, university, church and community audiences.

Amandla comes in two parts (18 and 16 mins.) with cassette tapes, script and teacher's guide.

The price is so reasonable that you will want to make sure that your organization, school and public library has a copy and that teachers know about it and use it.

"Focused on black resistance Amandla succeeds in clearly presenting an incredible amount of background on the South African system. . . . explains a complex situation simply without oversimplifying. A unique resource for introducing students to South Africa."

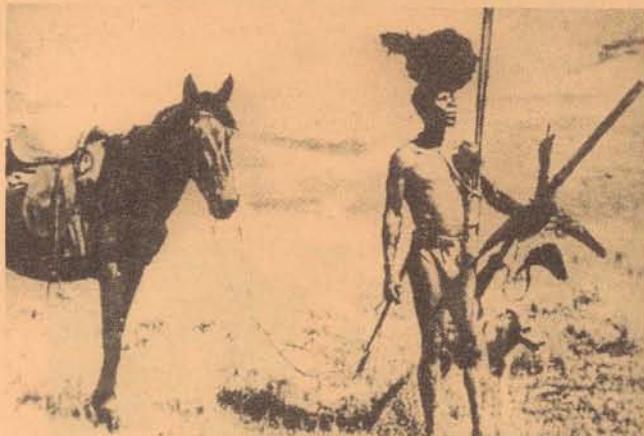

Dr. William Minter, Research Director, Africa News

WASHINGTON OFFICE ON AFRICA EDUCATIONAL FUND
1532 Swann St. NW
Washington, D.C. 20009

© 1984 WOAEF

Nonprofit Org.
U.S. Postage PAID
Washington, D.C.
Permit No. 3824

What does revolt in Soweto have to do with a 19th century Sotho warrior?

Amandla shows how they are part of the same story, the fight for African freedom and human rights.

Announcing a new teaching resource on South Africa from

VILLON FILMS and THE WASHINGTON OFFICE ON AFRICA EDUCATIONAL FUND